Trade History in Making

Canada N-Plant for Reds

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Winters announced Thursday that Canada may sell a nuclear power plant to Yugoslavia.

If the deal is closed — and he felt it would be — the 300-megawatt plant will be the first sold by a western nation to an Iron Curtain country.

Mr. Winters made the announcement at a news conference at which he reviewed a recent tour he made of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

He gave a glowing report of fundamental changes in the Iron Curtain economies which open up vast new trade opportunities for Canadian manufacturers.

He said his department would follow up his visit with sponsored trade missions.

Under the new, more flexible economic systems, Canadian businessmen will be able to deal directly with their counterparts in eastern Europe rather than through the "socialist" governments he said.

Hungary in particular, he said, is anxious to engage in joint endeavors with Canada. He mentioned the possibility of shared cost, and shared profit programs in tourism and chemicals.

Mr. Winters also announced that he had signed two new wheat agreements and secured agreement for a third.

Poland signed a three-year agreement to buy at least 900,000 tons and maybe 1,200,000 tons; Czechoslovakia agreed to buy 1,200,000 tons over the next five years and Bulgaria will likely buy 100,000 tons each year for five years, he said.

Inez Brings Floods

Death Toll Climbs In Haiti

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Killer hurricane Inez struck the Dominican Republic and neighboring Haiti with roof-lifting force Thursday and reports from the Haitian coastal town of Jacmel said there were many deaths from a flood tide whipped up by the storm.

Thousands were reported homeless in Haiti as the hurricane tore roofs of buildings in Port au Prince, the capital.

The hurricane centre in Miami, Fla., said there is only a slight chance that the storm will reach the U.S. mainland.

TOLL REVISED

In the Dominican Republic, authorities reported a death toll of six, revising an earlier total of nine. A spokesman for the armed forces ministry said the report of a drowning of three persons in Barahona turned out to be erroneous. This brought the confirmed death toll from Inez to 29 before it struck Haiti.

As the storm moved westward to Haiti, torrential rains and winds up to 75 miles an hour were reported to have hit Port au Prince. The town of Jacmel, where the flood tide was reported, is 24 miles southwest of the capital and in 1950 had a population of 8,500.

HOUSES UNROOFED

A large number of ramshackle homes were reported unroofed or destroyed in Haiti. There was no word from the southern Haitian peninsula along which Inez sped westward, packing winds up to 150 miles an hour.

Twenty-three of the deaths were recorded Tuesday when Inez swept the French island of Guadeloupe. Inez also left 500

Anti-British Leaflets Showered on Philip

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Prince Philip was showered with anti-British leaflets Thursday after a shooting incident and a plane hijacking had marred his visit to Argentina.

The leaflets, calling for return of the disputed Falkland (Malvinas) Islands to Argentina, apparently were thrown by workers at a big electric plant Philip visited in the morning.

The leaflets called on the British to recognize Argentine sovereignty over the two tiny islands in the South Atlantic, where Argentine extremists landed a hijacked plane Wednesday in a gesture of support for the anti-British Falklands campaign. Philip picked up one of the leaflets and, after a quick look, threw it away.

Gang boss Verrier

Meanwhile, the 18 young hijackers who holed up in Port Stanley, capital of the British-run Falklands in the South Atlantic, surrendered to local authorities Thursday night. Led by blonde Maria Christina Verrier, 27, the group seized a four-engine passenger plane with 48 aboard Wednesday and forced it to land on a racetrack at Port Stanley.

Unknown attackers fired a half-dozen pistol shots at the building of the British Embassy residence here Wednesday night while the husband of Queen Elizabeth was dressing for dinner. The shots hit the front of the building but caused no casualties or damage. The shots were fired from two speeding black cars.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The shooting was one of several incidents, and demonstrations here triggered by the raid on the Falklands. A few hundred persons, mostly students, paraded in downtown streets and burned paper Union Jacks before police dispersed them Wednesday night. A dozen youngsters forced their way into the British Consulate at Rosario at gunpoint and ransacked the offices, destroying files and the Union Jack on a pole outside the building. Five young students were arrested at Rosario, Argentina's second largest city, 200 miles north of here.

Argentine President Juan Carlos Onganía announced Thursday the hijackers will go on trial.

Pat Bay Widening Delayed

B.C.'s PURSE SNAPS SHUT

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Gradual widening of the Patricia Bay Highway from Swartz Bay to Victoria and construction of an interchange between the Trans-Canada Highway and Douglas Street will probably be delayed for at least a year, Highways Minister Gagliardi said Thursday.

There will be cutbacks in new road and bridge construction throughout B.C. and a further delay in completion of the partially built Provincial Museum near the Legislative Buildings, as a result of an order by Premier Bennett for a trimming of expenditures in all government departments.

The premier said before his departure on a two-week European visit that, in addition to a ban on overtime in B.C., announced Wednesday, he instructed the government to live within its budget and curtail extra spending.

WHERE POSSIBLE

"Accordingly, there will be curtailed government spending, with balanced budgets and surpluses, and we are going to curtail government contracts whenever possible," he said.

Essential health service projects will be carried on, but public works projects will be delayed and no highway and bridge contracts will be given for an unspecified period of time, the premier explained.

OTTAWA AGREES

Mr. Bennett said Ottawa had agreed to extend its cost-sharing agreement for the provincial museum-archives complex, so the project will not have to be completed during next year's centenary of Canadian Confederation.

Decision to postpone Patricia Bay Highway widening and the nearby Trans-Canada Highway interchange brought sharp reactions from Mayor Toome and Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis.

OUR 'LIFELINE'

Mayor Toome said he did not believe this would be a fair cutback because the highway was the "lifeline to the capital city of British Columbia" and should be a beautiful four-lane highway and parkway into the city.

"This is a most disappointing state of affairs," he said, adding that high priority should be given to the project because the road is dangerous and carries heavy amount of traffic and improvements are "extremely necessary."

ESSENTIAL TO PLANNING

The reeve of Saanich said that while the government's present policy of holding the line could be appreciated, it was essential that the municipality be advised soon about what parcels of land the government would eventually need for road improvements.

Traffic demands on the highway are such that improve-

Dams Rushed Despite Hours Rule

B.C. Hydro and Power Authority will trim as much overtime as it can from its operations without jeopardizing the Columbia River Treaty and contracts which have already been let, Hydro co-chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said here Thursday.

He said, in the wake of an announcement by Premier Bennett, that overtime is to be eliminated in B.C. as an anti-inflationary measure, that Hydro will examine the Peace and Columbia projects to see what overtime reductions can be instituted now and in the future.

STILL MEET IT

"However, to the extent B.C. Hydro has existing agreements which involve overtime, we would have to live up to them," Dr. Keenleyside said.

"And we would, of course, not allow the new rule to prevent completion of the dams on the schedule set by the Columbia River Treaty," he said.

But Labor Minister Peterson, who is charged with carrying out the premier's no-overtime rule, thinks Hydro can still meet its power obligations without the use of overtime.

Mr. Peterson said the contracts which Hydro has awarded for construction of dams require that overtime must be paid for work done beyond regular hours, but that there is nothing which states Hydro must pay overtime wages.

NO EXCUSES

"The government is not particularly interested in excuses. We want a positive approach to this problem," the minister said.

"I am sure if this question is approached in a positive manner, Hydro can complete the dams on schedule without overtime," said Mr. Peterson.

BOTH SITES

Some officials said the ban on overtime could spell labor trouble at both projects.

Harry Croft, secretary of the tunnel and rock workers union, said the average worker goes to remote jobs because he is assured of overtime. "Unless

Trucks Cut Tragic Swath

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP) — Six persons were killed and 52 were injured in two accidents near here Thursday.

In the first, five persons among a family of 17 migrating from Washington to Texas were killed when their camper was hit by a 12-ton trailer truck four miles west of here.

The 17 occupants and their luggage were strewn on the highway when a second trailer truck plowed through the scene without stopping, police said.

Florentino Rodriguez, 42, of Wapato, Wash., and his 16 passengers had taken a wrong turn after stopping for gas.

Rodriguez' four children, Celia, 15, Hermine, 12, Lape, 9, and Rene, 5, were killed along with his nephew Francisco Hernandez, 18.

Ten of the 12 injured members of the family were in hospital with multiple injuries.

Jerome King, 48, of Phoenix, Ariz., driver of the first truck, was arrested on suspicion of manslaughter, police said.

The driver of the second truck, who, police said, kept driving after smashing into the debris, was stopped at a roadblock 90 miles east of Blythe.

About two hours after the first accident, a bus carrying 40 farm workers plunged 30 feet down an embankment about 30 miles south of Blythe. Police said a front tire blew out, causing the driver, Jose de la Cruz, 37, of Mexicali, to lose control.

The accident killed his wife Francisco, 39. The 40 farm workers were hospitalized, police said.

Rent Taking Big Bite Of New Service Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — A 13.8-per-cent pay increase for the 105,000-member armed forces spread over two years was announced Thursday by Defence Minister Hellyer. (See Page 28).

But men living in barracks will be charged $5 to $105 a month for room and board and rents for married quarters will be raised by as much as $15 a month. The rents now run about $80 to $125 a month.

Effective Saturday, pay will be increased by 9.8 per cent and effective Oct. 1, 1967, by another four per cent.

This will add $48,000,000 to the armed forces pay bill of $530,000,000 in the current fiscal year and $85,300,000 in the next fiscal year starting April 1, 1967.

Mr. Hellyer said he doesn't know yet whether he will need a supplementary appropriation from Parliament on top of his current $1,572,000,000 defence budget to cover the pay raise. The minister said the smallest increase is $10 a month and that it applies to "very few" informants said 250 to 300—privates or their equivalents in the navy and air force.

The biggest annual increase in dollars—$3,000—over two years goes to lieutenant-generals, air marshals and vice-admirals. Their maximum pay will be $26,004 at Oct. 1, 1967.

The biggest percentage increase, however, goes to army captains, naval lieutenants and air force flight lieutenants. Their increase is about 25 1/2 per cent, raising their maximum pay to $10,524 Oct. 1 next year from $8,376 now.

There are 33,000 privates, seamen and airmen in the armed forces. Their maximum pay increase is to $5,220 a year from $4,836 or 6.8 per cent. However, some 14,000 men will be promoted to corporal or equivalent and the pay increase in that rank will be to $6,228 from $5,148 or about 20 per cent.

It is chiefly privates who live in barracks and who, for the first time, will have to pay for room and board at the rate of $65 a month.

The 30,000 members of the reserve forces are not included in the pay increase. Mr. Hellyer said reserve pay arrangements are being reviewed separately.

The brochure also gave the new trade structure in the armed forces, breaking the 111 trades into seven pay classifications.

Mr. Hellyer said marriage and subsistence allowances are being eliminated and incorporated into basic pay.

Inez Strikes

Inez, 10,000 homeless in its wake. The U.S. weather bureau in Miami said the storm now threatens eastern Cuba. It said the centre of the hurricane should arrive over the extreme east portion of Oriente province this morning, but gale and hurricane force winds are expected well before daylight.

As Inez, bearing 160-mile-an-hour centre winds, churned westward, two other tropical storms were brewing in the Atlantic.

FORMATIVE STAGE
Reconnaissance aircraft said tropical storm Judith was still in a formative stage with no well-defined centre and strong winds only in the eastern semicircle. At last report, it was located 100 miles east of Barbados and 650 miles southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico. Pictures received from U.S. weather satellites showed an area of wind and rain that could build into a tropical storm had formed in the eastern Atlantic about 600 miles northeast of the Cape Verde islands and 2,200 miles east northeast of San Juan.

TORRE OFF ROOFS

Banana, sugar, cotton and coffee farmers braced for heavy damage as torrential rains swept over the mountain watersheds above the Barro Colorado Valley in which Barro Colorado, a Dominican agricultural community are located. The peninsula, with about 200,000 inhabitants, has been the scene of disastrous flooding in the past.

Santo Domingo was whipped by heavy rains and winds as Inez swept the Caribbean but damage appeared confined to fallen power lines and uprooted trees. In the 3 p.m. advisory, the weather bureau said Inez was about 45 miles south-southeast of Port au Prince, Haiti. The hurricane was about 750 miles southeast of Miami, Fla.

Self-Examination Important As Check for Breast Cancer

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Please describe the technique used by doctors to examine for lumps or cancer of the breast. If my sister had not known how, I think you would do well to remind women how they can check for this problem — MRS. J. B. L.

If you mean I have not warned readers not to take chances with a lump, I plead not guilty.

Self-examination is the first line of defence against breast cancer, and there is no adequate substitute for it. Women should be checked by a doctor from every six to 12 months, but they should examine themselves at least once a month. Not every lump will be cancer.

Your Good Health

but every lump should be reported to the doctor at once. The first step is to stand facing a mirror and to look for any change in configuration of the breasts.

Then lie on your back. Place a folded towel or small pillow under the left shoulder. Keep the left arm down at the side. With the right hand, reach across and explore the outer half of the breast and under the arm. Don't use just finger tips. Use the entire flat area of the fingers.

This part of the examination is extremely important, as nearly half of all breast cancers start in the upper, outer quarter. Up to 15 per cent are in the second most dangerous area, the lower outer quarter.

OTHER SIDE
After the outer half has been checked, raise the left arm over the head, and with the flat of the fingers explore the inner half, from breastbone to nipple. Then move the pillow or pad to under the right shoulder, and examine the right breast with the left hand.

Not only lumps should be sought, but also any puckering or thickening, any discharge from the nipple or any restriction of movement of the breast tissues (which could indicate an attachment to the chest wall.) My repeated advice is never to get panicky if you find such sign. But don't delay, either.

Dear Dr. Molner: How does one get "cat scratch fever" and how is it treated? Does it leave permanent after-effects? — MRS. E.G.

As the name implies, it is an infection resulting from being scratched by a cat. Cats at times carry an organism, probably a virus, which afflicts human beings. It is a self-limited disease, runs its course in a week or 10 days, and is not serious. There is no specific treatment for it.

Dams Rushed Despite Rule

this is guaranteed, he just won't go."

The 3,500 men working on the lonely Portage Mountain dam-site earn from $600 to $1,200 a month, about half of it in overtime.

SCARE ITEM

Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing said in Vancouver that Premier Bennett's no-overtime announcement will scare people.

The Liberal minister, commenting on the Social Credit government's plan to eliminate overtime in the province, said such action is "interference with the so-called free enterprise system."

"This move will be interpreted (by the public) that the premier is in possession of facts that they have not been told about. Its effect is going to be extremely scary."

BLOOM FADING

B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault said the move is an indication the government fears that the bloom is fading from B.C. boom.

He said that while the overtime ban should serve to provide job opportunities for more people, it is a token gesture unless other more effective measures follow.

Mr. Perrault said the government should call a conference of labor, management and government to discuss economic problems.

LONG DEMANDED

Robert Strachan, provincial leader of the New Democratic Party, said unions have long demanded a change in overtime conditions but it took Mr. Bennett too long to recognize the need.

Howard Hume, president of the Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C., said the prospect of big overtime cheques lure the skilled laborer from the city but he felt workers would adjust to the government order.

OVERTIME PERMIT

Overtime permits issued by the government allow industry to employ men for more than the eight-hour day and 44-hour week allowed under provincial law.

Labor department officials said there is no record of the number of workers covered by overtime permits but estimates put the figure at about one-third of the province's labor force of 680,000.

MOVE WELCOMED

William Hamilton, an executive member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said he agrees with Premier Bennett's move. He said industry generally doesn't welcome overtime and premium rates.

Ray Haynes, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said in a telephone interview from Ottawa where he is attending a conference, he approves the move.

Advance on Second

Marines Win Hilltop

SAIGON (UPI) — A determined band of outnumbered U.S. Marines hurled elite North Vietnamese troops from a hill protecting Communist infiltration routes in the demilitarized zone and launched an attack Thursday on a second hill honeycombed with bunkers and trenches.

The confirmed Communist death toll in the Leathernecks' jungle offensive to smash North Vietnamese units entering South

Viet Nam through the zone, soared to 877. There were 72 new deaths reported Thursday by a Marine officer.

In Saigon, U.S. authorities announced that 142 Americans were killed and 825 wounded in the week ending Sept. 24 in one of the biggest weekly tolls since records were first announced on a weekly basis a year ago. The total of U.S. combat deaths in the war now stands officially at 5,302.

Two Opinions:

Bomb Question Up to America

EDMONTON (CP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury Thursday reiterated an opinion expressed earlier that "the world is in a mess, a terrible mess."

Most Rev. Michael Ramsey said at a press conference after arriving from Vancouver that the Viet Nam war must be stopped before it escalates to the point of no return.

The United States should take the initiative and "stop the bombing in North Viet Nam." Unless peace is made, the war will intensify "in the coming months and involve far more people," he said.

AMERICA'S MOVE
"I think it is right for America to take the initiative towards cessation of the war."

In Ottawa, U.S. Senator J. W. Fulbright said Thursday it "would be wise" for the U.S. to stop bombing of North Viet Nam as a gesture of good faith towards ending the Southeast Asia war.

He told the Commonwealth parliamentary conference that he deplored the negative response of North Viet Nam and Moscow to the U.S. offer to scale down the war.

MODERATE FASHION
Senator Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, said the proposal by Arthur Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the UN, was given "in a most moderate fashion."

However, the negative response should not be allowed to be the end of the matter.

Since the U.S. is the most powerful participant in the conflict it is the responsibility of the U.S. to continue taking the initiative towards a peace conference, he said.

Senator Fulbright said that "because our opponents are intransigent and rude," it should not deter pursuit of that goal.

He told the Commonwealth

Inter-Faith Co-operation Impresses

EDMONTON (CP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury said here he was "very struck by the great co-operation" between the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches during his month-long cross-Canada tour.

Most Rev. Michael Ramsey said: "In every place, the Roman Catholic Church has joined in worship with us... and the brotherly spirit has been very marked. I am also struck by the spirit of co-operation among other churches as well. I can spot that it is a friendly spirit there all the time, not just for the visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury."

Tory MP Attacks 'Dump-Chief' Move

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The dump-Diefenbaker movement suffered a stiff blow Thursday night when a member of the executive of the Conservative Party unleashed a sharp attack against Dalton Camp and "the policies of Bay Street."

Maritime frontbencher Robert Coates (Cumberland) blasted the Progressive Conservative national president at the organizational meeting of the Halifax PC Association.

"If Mr. Camp has the best interest of the Conservative party at heart he will desist immediately from the methods adopted recently in asking for a re-appraisal of the leadership of our party."

BLOOD-LETTING
"The result of Mr. Camp's present policy can only mean division and damage and a degree of blood-letting that will be of benefit only to the Liberal and New Democratic Parties," he said.

LESSON FOR FUTURE
"It is my understanding that since February Mr. Camp has met on one occasion with the leader of the party and did not bring up or discuss the question of leadership which he indicates he is so concerned about today."

"One would think, the Conservative party would use past errors as a lesson for future action."
"But a look at the facts would lead one to believe that some members of our party persist in forcing us to make further errors that can only do damage to our party."

GIVE CREDIT
"At the same time one must give credit to our present leader, John Diefenbaker, for saving our party on two recent occasions from disintegration," he said.

He said the same men who caused the dissension in 1963 and 1965 are at it again. This, he said, would be "good news similar situation develop in for the Grits" who are having a their party.

"The Grits can thank Mr. Camp for proving to their followers the folly of such action," he said.

DISILLUSIONING
"A political party should be big enough to allow its leader to make a decision on retirement in his own way and at the moment he considers it to be in the party's best interest."

With all the examples of Liberal neglect in evidence it is indeed disillusioning to find that we would rather fight among ourselves than with those who are deserving our righteous indignation," he concluded.

Loyalty Oath Rejected By Fleming

VERNON (CP) — B.C. Progressive Conservative leader Stuart Fleming Thursday rejected an appeal from angry North Vancouver Tories urging a loyalty oath for all Conservative party officers.

But he said he sympathizes with the members, who attacked Tories for "dual political principles and interests." He said such statements hurt Conservative chances during the Sept. 12 provincial election.

"The North Vancouver people entered their candidates in good faith. I am just as disturbed as they are that prominent Conservatives allied themselves with other candidates and parties during the election campaign."

"Party affiliation is a matter of free choice and we must hold our members by conviction. Frankly, we have no power to enforce an oath of loyalty anyway," he said.

Too Little Too Late

WHILE PROFESSOR EDWARD NEUFELD of the University of Toronto was warning a special parliamentary committee on living costs that wage increases are placing new inflationary pressures on the economy, the minister of national defence, Mr. Paul Hellyer, was announcing in Ottawa a pay raise for the armed forces which will cost the taxpayers $48,000,000 in the current fiscal year and another $63,600,000 in the fiscal year following.

But in spite of the formidable increase in the military budget resulting, the individual, particularly the lower echelons of service, does not appear to gain materially from the average 9.8 per cent raise on Oct. 1 and the 4 per cent addition next October, a long-heralded inducement to keep men in the armed forces.

The minimum monthly increase will be $10, but this will scarcely improve the position of the single men who live in barracks. For in future they will be required to pay for room and board.

Married quarters occupants should not congratulate themselves that they will escape the penalty paid by those single men who will continue to live in barracks. Their rents will be raised "in due course," although in neither case does the minister indicate the amounts involved.

Subsistence and marriage allowances will be eliminated and included in basic pay, but unfortunately some of the advantage will be lost here because income tax has not been paid in the past on the full rate of allowances.

The new scheme introduces the principle of equal pay for equal work: that is to say, married and single men doing the same job at the same rank will draw the same remuneration.

But there will be some confusion in this instance because of the incorporation of marriage and subsistence allowances in the basic pay rate. Does the married man pay a penalty? On the basis of the equalization clause seems probable.

This, and other details of the plan, will require clarification.

For instance, the minister is promising "a substantial raise" near the end of the first five years of service which will replace the $1,000 re-engagement bonus. How much will it be?

Presumably he will mark time on this point for the period required to judge whether pay adjustments, the immediate promotion of 14,000 men to the rank of corporal in the army and air force and to leading seaman in the navy, and the alterations in the trades structure will have the desired effect of stopping the exodus from the services which widespread dissatisfaction has caused.

The minister feels, he says, that the new pay scale in the services compares favorably with that in industry. On the basis of appraisal of the highlights of his plan there is likely to be some disagreement on this point. It remains to be seen whether the skilled tradesmen, so essential to the proficiency of the services, will agree with him.

On the whole it is improbable that there will be any large demonstration of enthusiasm.

The plain fact is that the services cannot effectively compete with industry in the field of wages. The things that kept men in the forces in the past, apart from patriotism in time of war and security offered in peace, were intangibles: pride, loyalty, and a desire to serve in a highly respected role and in a hard-won tradition.

These so important qualities the minister seems to hold of small consequence.

Boost to Bennett

PREMIER BENNETT is to be congratulated on being selected by the management and editorial staff of the American news magazine Time as the outstanding example of the spirit of modern-day pioneering and "the questing confidence of new leadership" in Canada today.

Regardless of the differing views held by many of the magazine's 3,500,000 readers in the United States and Canada regarding its editorial policies, news presentation and political biases, there can be no doubt that Time is one of the most influential journals of its type in the Western world.

Nor can it be overlooked that in the main its comment on national and foreign affairs represents, if not a majority, then a substantial proportion of the general opinion of the American people.

On this basis Premier Bennett and British Columbia obviously sit high on the totem pole of good imagery abroad.

A further credit to Premier Bennett is the fact that (as pointed out by Southern Bureau chief Charles Lynch) Time set out to do a piece about booming Canada and to give a boost to Expo 67 "but wound up not with a federal figure on the cover, but Bennett; not with a story about Canada, but a story about the West."

And, indeed, it might be added that the story about the West has somehow developed into a story about how British Columbia epitomizes the progressive West. Premier Bennett, for instance has the cover, while British Columbia has six of the 18 colored and black and white photographs contained in the cover story—including the only two full-page cuts.

Alberta has five of the smaller illustrations, Saskatchewan, three; Manitoba, one; Quebec, two—one of which depicts Expo 67 and the Yukon, one.

As to written content the article devotes columns to British Columbia and Premier Bennett but inches to the rest of the West.

But though British Columbia may echo with cheers over its lion's share of the highly complimentary words about it and its premier contained in the Time article, Ottawa can hardly be expected to react the same way.

The federal government is, in fact, lightly—and somewhat caustically—dismissed in a few paragraphs salted with such observations as: "With Ottawa engaged in its own petty wars and party intrigues, the provinces have surged ahead on their own under strong premiers... especially British Columbia's Bennett."

As much as the article is a boost to Premier Bennett and British Columbia it is a forceful condemnation of the negligent and negligible leadership of the nation—as seen through the eyes of one of the leading opinion-makers in the United States.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

IF I am to judge by the sports pages, and where else could I be posted on the subject, the World Series is about to be upon us.

It isn't a world series, of course, being limited to the champions of two American leagues with no invitations sent to other aspirants, assuming these were viable. The only real sporting world series took place in England in July of this year. But world series this baseball classic is so-called and there it is. This piece is not to cavil at the claim.

For, as well you know, the top-story conclusion to the U.S. national pastime envelops us all. Like measles and inflation it knows no bounds.

Certainly not in the North America of which we are a part. All over Canada people will be glued to the TV screen to watch the rival contenders, assuming such watchers are not at work. And the odd flutter of numerous small sweeps will attest to a common interest.

I might even invite a quarter if given the chance, without, I hope, falling entirely from grace. After all, should a minor miracle happen and my score turn up, the capital gain won't be such as to tempt me into dissolute ways.

This aspect apart however there's a notion that always afflicts me when this baseball climax comes into daily notice. I think of it, not without regret, especially in view of the lovely days we have been enjoying, as heralding the end of summer. Strictly speaking we are now in the fall season, but no matter.

The world series betokens that winter is not far away, for baseball is a summer-long game and its end, even for those who don't know a stadium diamond from one on a feminine finger, and don't care about the distinction either, is something all of us are apt to deplore.

Winter has its attractions, I dare say, but just at the moment these escape me. Much closer to home, and thus more intimate to the Canadian scene, taking place this year nearby in Vancouver, is the Grey Cup as a harbinger of short days and long nights, which when set alongside the balm of summer sunshine lose for this writer, and doubtless for many others, much of their appeal.

I don't cite the Grey Cup as a series, or even as a final, for everyone knows this as a one-game, sudden-death encounter for national football honors. Somewhat strange this, indeed, in view of the lengthy playoffs required to produce the contenders; or it would be did not the box-office intrude into the picture.

And the Grey Cup, my sports colleagues inform me, won't fill Empire Stadium until November is almost gone. By which time there is the dire possibility that snow may have made its appearance.

And by which time Santa Claus will also have come back from his orbit in outer space, or his hibernation in a place unknown, and the hectic round of secular Christmas be once more upon us. And this, as you will concede, spells winter.

Ah well. Nature must have its way and mankind must adapt to its pleasure. One thing can be said for winter, too: it puts us that much closer to the next summer.

For as the poet said, if winter comes...

Crisis Survived

Commonwealth Nations Indicate Solidarity

By NICHOLAS CARROLL

from London

AT both start and finish of the Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting held in London earlier this month, I was struck by how many more people than usual were raising such questions as "What use is the Commonwealth? Has it any future? Is it so changed as to have lost all its old point and meaning?"

Ever since I began covering Commonwealth prime ministerial meetings some 20 years ago I have heard these questions raised, but this time, I felt, it was becoming a major preoccupation with professional commentators.

This is not necessarily a bad thing. A man who thinks about his health from time to time probably takes better care of it than a man who ignores disturbing symptoms.

But of course the danger in over-preoccupation with symptoms is hypochondria. And there seems some danger that we are not careful we shall all become hypochondriacs about the Commonwealth.

The important thing is to get the recent conference into perspective. The Indian external affairs minister, Mr. Sivaraj Singh, expressed dismay during the first week with the fact that 200,000 white people in Rhodesia could thwart the will of over 700,000 people with apparent impunity.

The same statistics dismayed Mr. Harold Holt, the Australian prime minister, rather differently. He found it absurd that a question directly affecting about one-tenth of the people of the Commonwealth—the African membership—should be endangering its very continuation and occupying its leaders' attention to the virtual exclusion of half a dozen other subjects of far greater importance.

Another feature of the recent conference which caused irritation in some Commonwealth quarters was the emergence of an official Afro-Asian-Caribbean bloc. There had been the makings of such a bloc at the Lagos conference earlier this year, and at the last London conference in 1965. But it should be realized that the question which produced this development was the single issue of Britain's handling of the Rhodesian situation—in particular the fear, however groundless, that Britain might come to terms with the rebellious Rhodesian regime in a way that might lead to a definite prolongation of white minority rule over an eight-to-one black African majority.

In plain words, it was at heart a racial issue, which produced, with some exceptions, a purely racial line-up of whites versus non-whites.

It must be assumed that the Rhodesian crisis will not last forever. No government could reasonably make any other assumption as a basis for policy, at least not at this stage. So it must therefore also be assumed that the Commonwealth is not going to be permanently divided along purely racial lines.

At the same time, those people who saw in the emergency a general feeling that the Rhodesian crisis was a test of the Commonwealth's ability to live amicably side by side, the Northerners, who for the biggest single unit in Nigeria, do not want to be ruled by the ambitious Ibo, who occupy many key positions in business and the civil service.

Likewise, the Ibo are not prepared to be minority ruled by people widely admitted to be less educated. In this North versus East struggle, the other main tribe, the Yorubas of the Western Region, are little more than spectators.

I'm not a practical politician, but I have the same considerations are, however, likely to be just as important as tribal affiliations in determining the future of Nigeria.

While people in the East are talking freely of secession, the East, unlike the West, is not a homogeneous region. Two other tribes are important there—the Eikis and the Ibibos, who occupy the vital area of the Rivers State, where most of the oil in the East is located. For the East to secede and become an economically-viable state, it would have to take this region with it. The Eikis and the Ibibos are, however, as determined not to be ruled by the Ibo as the Ibo are not to be ruled by the Northerners.

Another consideration is that, at least until the riots in May, about half of the Easterners were living outside the East. Of these a majority were traders, especially in the North. With secession, these people, and the Ibo occupying high positions in Nigeria, would have to return to the East, already an overpopulated region, with consequent over-crowding and unemployment.

Emotions are running high in the North, where the desire to get rid of the Ibo settlers is often voiced. In the East there is deep resentment against the North for having killed so many Ibo civilians in May and, apart from those that managed to escape, almost all of the Ibo army officers in the July mutiny.

It is doubtful whether Gowon wished to become supreme commander at all. Certainly he now wants to hand government over to civilians as soon as possible. But this is not easy. The army is the last hope of those who hate tribalism—has been shown to have the same disease. Neither Gowon nor the attitude of the African states to the Commonwealth. Not a single African leader in London, with the possible exception of the Zambian representative, displayed the slightest inclination to withdraw from the Commonwealth.

By now most of the African members have borne the responsibility of independence long enough to understand the many benefits they gain from membership.

Their spokesmen made it clear that it was not only the material advantages they would lose. They were thinking about how a minor power can gain a major international platform, how a poor country can enjoy a highly developed diplomatic intelligence service, how the lifeblood of its society can be enriched by the kind of professional exchanges the new Commonwealth Foundation can bring them, how its young men and women can join the students from the Commonwealth, totalling little short of 50,000,000 at any one time.

In short, their political instincts tell them, just as mine tell me, that, in the succinct and apt words of Mr. John Chadwick, director of the Commonwealth Federation: "Quarrels between nations, political bitterness, misunderstandings, all these can be ephemeral things, but it would still need an immense effort of sheer and continuous folly to snap the ties of friendship, practical and self-interested ties which bring together more than a quarter of this world's population."

There can be no question in anyone's mind, surely, about the way the meeting has clarified

Quarrelsome State

Deep Fears and Rivalries Divide Nigeria's People

By PAUL MOSER

from London

THE fate of Nigeria as a country as Britain's best effort in integration in Africa — is still in the balance as a constitutional conference in Lagos tries to forge a workable political system after two military coups.

The first military take-over in January, led General Aguiyi-Ironsi to attempt to replace the federal system with a unitary state. After the army mutiny seven months later, Colonel Yakubu Gowon, the 33-year-old, British-trained chief-of-staff, declared that the Ibo, who occupy the vital area of the Rivers State, where most of the oil in the East is located. For the East to secede and become an economically-viable state, it would have to take this region with it. The Eikis and the Ibibos are, however, as determined not to be ruled by the Ibo as the Ibo are not to be ruled by the Northerners.

Worry to the West

Red Guard Purge Like Revolution

By MARQUIS CHILDS

FOR the first time top-level China watchers are using the word revolution. They are saying that the mass violence initiated by the Red Guards may be uncontrollable and end in open armed conflict between the several elements involved in a struggle for power.

The struggle has, in short, moved beyond the he's-up-he's-down phase within the mysterious upper reaches of the hierarchy. The evidence points to a vast cataclysm like an earthquake. Shrouded in the censorship of a dictatorial regime it nevertheless has the look of one of those great turning points seen in history to separate the familiar past from the perilous present.

The trouble is that no one can be sure which way events will turn. Say, for example, that the Red Guards do get out of hand, and this is one line of speculation among the China watchers. What could be a more ready way to solve the internal problem than to turn them loose against the "American imperialists" in Viet Nam? History has many precedents for dictators using a foreign adventure as a diversion when enemies at home threaten to pull down the house. The Red Guards are fanatic haters. They could become the kind of "human wave" attack that assaulted American troops in North Korea in 1951. Indifferent to life, infused with the frenzy of fanatical propaganda, they come on in inexhaustible numbers.

It goes without saying that this would mean a radical alteration in the Viet Nam War. Unlike Korea, this time there would be no "privileged sanctuary." China's military concentration and perhaps even industrial and nuclear targets would be bombed.

Because from such a cataclysm almost anything can come, the smallest straws in the great wind of change blowing across China are examined with care. A Hong Kong newspaper report, as yet unconfirmed, is that Peking has removed all of Red China's $261,000,000 from Hong Kong banks. Does this mean preparation for intervening in Viet Nam? Or is it merely a step toward throwing financial support to potential friends in the Communist bloc?

China watching, even from the close range of Hong Kong, is like looking through the wrong end of a telescope. The United States policy has been to isolate China as far as possible. The professional watchers insist that even Western diplomats in Peking, representing countries that recognize Red China, know little more than the watchers on the periphery. The diplomats live in a carefully confined ghetto and their access to officialdom is extremely limited and to the public all but non-existent.

Nevertheless, like lightning flashes against a dark sky, isolated incidents reveal the magnitude of what is happening. In a rally in Harbin in northeast China the Red Guards called for "burning down the Chinese Communist party and shelling the command headquarters." An intelligence report indicates that in many cities the Communist apparatus has formed a Red Corps to fight the invading Red Guards although the party has been ordered by Peking not to resist or interfere with the Guards' actions, as have the army and the general populace. The report says that in some areas there is a state of full riot.

The best guess is that the Red Guards stem from the political department of the armed forces. Lin Piao, No. 2 to Mao Tse-tung, at a giant rally on Aug. 31, called the Guards a "powerful reserve force" of the People's Liberation Army. But there are also indications that the army is divided, and it cannot be ruled out that if the armed forces were called in to control a situation that was out of hand the more conservative forces might come out on top. Even since the break with the Soviet Union the army command is reportedly concerned over spare parts to keep Soviet-supplied equipment in action.

That is the crux of the matter—whether the revolution engineered by the Red Guards is not cutting directly across the effort to pull China into the 20th Century. Attacking Western scientists and doctors, the Red Guards threaten to reduce education in China to little more than a propaganda machine.

A Japanese trade mission in Peking found they could not get down to business because their opposite numbers were concentrating on proving they could live by the thoughts of Chairman Mao. In the government office buildings nervous bureaucrats wait to learn their fate, the first warning coming in signs held up to the window on a long pole denouncing their "revisionism" and addition to the old ways.

Whatever the final outcome, it is an immense tragedy. Mao and his companions of the heroic long march are attempting to revive the fervor of that time. They are, in the phrase of one observer, the last of the romantic revolutionaries.

In China

Savage Purge

By PAUL JOHNSON

In a London Diary

IT'S difficult to think of a time in recent years when public life, at home and abroad, has looked so gloomy. But the same thing has happened in China's cities, under the new slogan of the "cultural revolution." Has the world learnt nothing? The latest phase in China springs, I fear, from a desperate sense of national frustration, finding its inevitable outlet in xenophobia. The Chinese see themselves as the greatest and most civilized race on earth. But abroad they meet with nothing but diplomatic reverses; they can't control events in their neighbor, Viet Nam; their religion is propagated even more relentlessly than the Stalinist cult, and seems to me more systematically evil in its effects. All the elements for a fanatical explosion are present, and an American land invasion of North Viet Nam (which now seems possible) could ignite it.

The spate of reminiscences about the Suez War reminds us how dangerous it is for statesmen to develop obsessions about persons and territories. "The Egyptian has his thumb on our windpipe" was Eden's preposterously melodramatic reaction to Nasser's seizure of the Canal. According to Lady Eden, "for months the Suez Canal ran through our drawing room." Looking back on this tragedy, come with the benefit of a decade's hindsight, one gasps at the extent to which a supposedly well-informed government could exaggerate the importance of Nasser and the Canal. A few weeks ago I visited the once-notorious Polish Corridor. How extraordinary to think that this small and undistinguished bit of earth should have provoked a world war which cost the lives of tens of millions! Does anyone now care tuppence who owns Bosnia-Herzegovina — or who operates the Suez Canal? For that matter — do most people even know?

'Drafting' Wrong Approach, Martin Advises

Every Nation Urges 'Indispensible' Thant to Stay

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
From United Nations

The one opinion common to almost every policy speech in the current General Assembly session is that U Thant should remain in office as secretary-general.

But Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, who knows the Burmese diplomat well, has warned that, "Any attempt to draft him for a second five-year term would be the wrong way to approach this man." He has made this point during two trips here in the first two weeks of the assembly session.

It seems that Martin's advice is being followed, and is likely to produce the result Canada wants. — unqualified acceptance by Thant of a second five-year term.

An expected Asian movement to draft Thant has failed to materialize. While delegate after delegate rises in the chamber to praise Thant, there is no evidence of any plan to confront him with a united appeal or request to remain in office.

The pressure on him is taking quite a different form. It is the absence of any serious effort to find a successor.

Late Thursday, the Security Council issued a statement to the effect that its 15 members, which include the big powers, have confidence in Thant and "it would fully meet their desires" if he accepted another term.

Shortly afterward, Thant said through a spokesman he appreciated the expression of support and "will, of course, give this matter serious consideration."

There can be little doubt that if Thant sticks to his decision to retire Dec. 31, the world organization will be plunged into a struggle over the succession and many fear it would find the Soviet Union and the United States on opposite sides.

***

Quite possibly, the Soviet proposal for a three-headed leadership, raised at the time of Dag Hammarskjöld's death in 1961, would be revived again. It would still be as unacceptable to the United States, Canada, Britain, the majority of African countries and others as it was then.

Thant's first term ends Nov. 3 but he has said he will stay on until Dec. 31 if the UN's 119 member countries haven't found a successor.

There has been a distinct leave-if-you-like-but-we-cannot-win-without-you attitude expressed in a number of delegates' speeches. Thant is being praised to the skies and made to feel like an international hero for even thinking of retirement in such terrible times.

The fact that these times haven't grown any less terrible has, of course, had something to do with his decision. In particular, he cited lack of progress towards ending the Viet Nam war and towards resolving the dispute over how to authorize and finance UN peace forces.

At no time, however, has he said progress must be made in these matters before he will reconsider his decision. For this reason, most observers think the door to reconsideration has been left ajar.

Thant is widely admired for his diplomatic skills, intellectual scope and sense of justice. UN members also believe the easiest way to avoid a fight about who should be secretary-general is to keep the one you have. Martin may have had both points in mind when he told reporters, "Thant is virtually an indispensable man at this time."

BACKGROUND

Speer's Lips Unsealed

Nazi Genius Now Free To Disclose Secrets

By JOHN ENGLAND, from Berlin

Two convicted Nazi war criminals will walk out of Berlin's Spandau Jail at midnight tonight after 20 years behind bars. They are Albert Speer, 61, Hitler's ex-minister of armaments, and Baldur von Schirach, 59, the former Hitler Youth leader.

"Gagged" throughout their years of confinement, Speer and von Schirach will be free to divulge what they know of the incredible last months of the Second World War. For the pair still harbor many of the war's greatest secrets.

Architect Speer was named minister for armaments and munitions in 1942—one of the few clever appointments Hitler ever made. Speer soon showed himself to be an outstanding organizer and in a remarkably short time rose to become virtual dictator of the entire Nazi war production.

Speer was the complete technocrat, too interested in his job to bother with the intrigues of the Nazi court. As the tide turned against the Nazis, Hitler began to lean more and more on his innermost fantasies. Dreams of grotesque weapons of revenge obsessed him.

The harsh realities of producing these wonder weapons was Speer's province. And the efficient technocrat served his master well.

***

Under his strict supervision, the trouble-plagued V1 rocket production program soon became a ghastly reality to the people of London and southeast England. The "doodle-bugs" were the first Nazi secret weapon that made sense.

Jubilant at its success, Speer's ministry pushed ahead with the next stage—the V2. But the Nazi technocrat had other tricks up his sleeves.

The most important was an atomic weapon. Speer's men were on the right track.

and Allied intelligence knew it. Given enough time, the Germans could well have produced a cumbersome but effective version.

But before the research reached fruition, the Allies pinpointed its nerve centre—the town of Oranienburg, 30 miles north of Berlin. On March 15, 1945, they razed it to the ground in a massive air attack.

How near were the Germans to producing an atomic bomb? Speer knows better than anyone.

Similarly, he is the only one who knows the whole story behind the six-mile-long runways built on the Norwegian coast, 40 miles north of Oslo.

The super runways were designed for giant six-engined long-range bombers. It now is known that the target for these bombers was New York. Strictly on a one-way ticket.

These great leviathans of the air were to have been the Nazis' "kamikazes." Their mission: to wipe out Manhattan, then crash. How near were the Nazis to carrying out this threat? The facts have never been made public.

Speer had even more grandiose dreams.

On paper were plans for a German orbital satellite that would be able to launch aimed-projectile assaults on earth targets.

Picked up by British troops near Flensburg, on the Danish border, in the dying days of the war, Speer was prepared to talk. His price was his personal freedom.

British intelligence fought tooth-and-nail to save Speer from the fate of the other top Nazis at the 1946 Nuremberg war crimes tribunal.

They failed, and Speer was sentenced to 20 years in prison.

How much could he have revealed had he been treated as a technocrat and not as a war criminal?

Only Speer knows.

Chinese Purge About to Spread

By ROBERT S. ELEGANT, from Hong Kong

Diplomatic sources have revealed that the purge of senior Chinese Communist leaders will intensify after China celebrates the 17th anniversary of the regime's establishment this weekend.

Mounting evidence in the controlled press and radio was supported by private information from the Chinese capital.

Chairman Liu Shao-chi of the People's Republic of China and Secretary General Teng Hsiao-ping of the Communist party were reported in disfavor. Among the six regional bureaus of the Communist party, only two have not been criticized, and hardly a single province remains where senior members of the hierarchy have not been subjected to violent criticism.

Those verbal attacks were apparently the prelude to overt action.

The first objective of the dogmatists who command the attack has already been attained. The formal machinery of the Communist party was virtually paralyzed as a result of the unrelenting attacks upon provincial leaders mounted by adolescent Red Guards under the orders of the country's new master, Defence Minister Lin Biao.

Opposition to the extreme policies of Lin Biao was mounting in almost every province of China.

No abrupt or final resolution of the virtual civil war in the Chinese Communist party is expected. But, the sources said, it is anticipated that the dominant clique, headed by Lin Biao and guided by the visions of Chairman Mao Tse-tung of the Communist party, will either move to reassert effective control of the party apparatus or will establish alternate machinery for the exercise of authority in China.

For the past month and a half, the Red Guards and their allies have been softening up the "citadels of the bourgeoisie within the party" by their verbal attacks and terrorist tactics. One of the chief ancillary benefits, from Lin's point of view, has been to force his opponents to reveal themselves through their resistance to the onslaughts of his youthful irregulars.

***

Lin can not indefinitely withhold his main attack, since his enemies, by now fully alert to the danger they face, could use the time to strengthen their positions in the provinces. In order to take full advantage of the softening-up tactics he has already employed, he must strike soon.

The Liberation Army Daily, Lin's organ, has repeatedly stressed in recent days that "the enemy must be completely surrounded by a vastly superior force." That strategy is now in train.

It is, nonetheless, apparent that a moderate faction of some strength, if little cohesion, is battling the dogmatists for the soul of China.

They contend that infinitely expanding repression at home and the unremitting fostering of revolution abroad can neither succeed nor, in any event, ultimately benefit the Chinese people.

***

They are more interested in rice and radios than guns, more concerned with maintaining a decent order of society than with grandiose visions.

The moderates had attained such commanding position before the beginning of the present purge that they could ignore or circumvent orders from Peking.

Before Lin Biao can consolidate his personal position, he must regain the grip upon the levers of power—which Mao Tse-tung's palsied hands lost.

New Republic

Celebration Marked By Arrests

GABERONES, Bechuanaland (Reuters) — Police announced the arrest of seven armed Negroes in a game reserve in the far north of Bechuanaland, which became the independent African republic of Botswana at midnight Thursday night.

The arrests were made Monday in the Chobe game reserve — said to have the largest wild life herds in the world — which Britain's Princess Marina is due to visit this weekend.

The princess is representing Queen Elizabeth at Botswana's gay independence festivities centred in this brand new capital city.

ALL ARMED

A police spokesman said the captured Negroes carried Chinese and Russian-made weapons.

There was speculation here that the group intended to infiltrate into neighboring South-West Africa, where terrorists Tuesday attacked and burned down two South African government-owned houses. White-ruled South Africa administers South-West Africa.

In Gaberones, about 500 dusty miles from the Chobe game reserve, the week's celebrations making the birth of a new nation moved to their climax Thursday.

NEW FLAG

At midnight, a blue, black and white striped flag was run up, replacing the Union Jack, as Bechuanaland ended 81 years as a British protectorate.

The land of 500,000 Negro population has been withered by five years of drought. Much of it is desert, swamp and scrub. Tens of thousands of its people are starving. It has few natural resources.

Its first president will be Seretse Khama.

Oil Discovered Near Regina

REGINA (AP) — Discovery of a high-quality of crude oil in the Minton area 95 miles south of here was termed "highly important" by General Resources Minister A. C. Cameron.

Mr. Cameron said at a press conference that the discovery in a wildcat area not previously explored marked the first time oil had been found in the Devonian formation at the 7,000 to 8,000-foot levels.

ahead of schedule, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, said here Thursday.

Dr. Keenleyside told several hundred delegates to the Northwest Public Power Association conference at the Empress Hotel that the government expects to have the Duncan Dam and the Arrow Dam completed as early as possible.

The largest of the three dams, the Mica, which will have a power-generating capacity of 2,000,000 kilowatts, is "just about on schedule" and will be completed by its target date of April 1, 1973, he said.

'CHEAPEST POWER'

Cost of the Columbia River projects is going up because of inflation, but Hydro officials are not deeply concerned because power from Mica Dam "will still be the cheapest that could be obtained by any new construction on this continent."

"We will be getting energy out at very close to two mills," Dr. Keenleyside continued. "Costs are rising, but it's still the best deal we could possibly have made — it's as good as anything that could be started now, including nuclear energy."

Line Orders New Tankers

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's biggest shipping line, the P. and O. group, has announced it will place another $17,000,000 worth of orders with Japan's Mitsui Shipyards, this time for two 176,000-ton tankers. The new contract will bring the company's orders with Japanese yards to about $59,000,000—$34,000,000 with Mitsui.

Go-Go Teller Found in Pond

BLUE POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — A 20-year-old platinum blonde Go-Go girl who walked out of a bank Monday with more than $20,000 of the bank's money was found slain Thursday. Police said Irene Brandt, who also worked as a teller in the bank, apparently had been killed for the money.

The body of the shapely Miss Brandt, of Massapequa, N.Y., was found in a sump, a small pond used to collect rain water, behind a Blue Point laundry, not far from the discotheque where she had danced nights after her day's work at the bank.

MONEY GONE

The girl's throat had been cut. She had been beaten on the head. Her hands and feet had been tied. The $21,109 missing from the North Merrick branch of the Hempstead Bank was not found.

Authorities sought for questioning in the slaying a bartender who has been missing from his usual haunts and who was reported to have been friendly with the slain girl.

Joseph Felice of Patchogue, N.Y., an engineer who works for the laundry, found the body while making a routine inspection of the pond. He sighted a woman's leg protruding above the water's surface.

Authorities said that when Miss Brandt failed to return from lunch Monday, bank officials recalled the large handbag and paper bag she had carried and began an inventory of the cash drawers in the section where she worked.

Bank officials said the shortage was discovered and authorities, including the FBI, were notified.

On Display in New School

Niagara of Prose
Inspired by Toy Cat

By JOHN MATTERS

When Miss Heather Currie brought Theodore Horatio Euclid to her 24 Grade 2 pupils this week, never did she think that the toy cat would inspire such a Niagara of prose.

"I feel all heart about the cat," wrote one of the students.

"Theodore Horatio Euclid looks like a tiger because he has blue stripes and is grey," struggled another in his big, round handwriting.

A third pupil's mind wandered from Theodore, etc. to Gypsy, the family dog.

"Every time we have our dinner Gypsy says his prayers." All of it, an effort to illustrate what the whole business of education is about, was on the walls of Elk Lake elementary school Thursday night when the three-room, $58,700 building was officially opened.

HISTORY ESSAY

The prose, the autumn leaves and the work of the best spellers and artists were paraded for the school and municipal officials and public.

Also on display was an essay by Karen Smyth, 15, a Grade 10 student who won first prize in a contest on Saanich history for her research into the First Elk Lake school.

Built in 1897, it had desks of rough wood planks, coal oil lamps, a playground of grass and stumps and on every second Saturday was the scene of a community dance.

FIRST TEACHER

At the back was a shed for horses and buggies, and the first teacher, paid $40 a month, was Gladys A. K. Butler.

Now Mrs. Gladys Gabb, she was at Thursday night's opening, along with many of her former pupils.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich officially opened the building, noting that it was another of the products of the co-operation which the municipality has enjoyed with School District 63.

The application for rezoning was made by Thomas Bradbury and Associates on behalf of Yates Enterprises Ltd.

Lawyer John Kozak appeared before city council for Victoria Apartment Owners Group Management. He declined to name his principals but said that they had interests "in the area."

The application came up twice, and twice the city's Planning Advisory Commission urged rejection, the lawyer recalled.

Each time, the council sent it back to the board, until on the third try, the planning advisers suggested a category which allowed limited commercial development.

The bylaw passed Thursday ratified this development.

Building Over Boundary

City Core Extended To Include Clinic

By A. H. MURPHY

City council Thursday passed a bylaw allowing construction of a $2,000,000, five-storey medical-dental building on the north side of Yates Street just beyond Cook — and just outside of the city's downtown core.

Thus aldermen ended a controversy which has raged for months. Opponents of the application to rezone for limited commercial use based their case on the planning philosophy that in order to flourish, and even survive, cities must develop their downtown areas intensively and first. This principle has been adopted and approved by Victoria's city council and planning authorities.

The eastern boundary of the city's downtown core is Cook Street.

MUST BE FLEXIBLE

Champions of the application to rezone maintained that there must be flexibility in any planning regulations and that a medical-dental building was not, strictly speaking, commercial. Such a building, they maintained, was more accessible to patients in the outlying areas and would be better able to provide parking space.

Ald. Michael Griffin, who had opposed the application, spoke against it Thursday, but said he realized his cause was lost.

Kennedy Adviser's Prediction:

We'll Choke in Traffic Boasting of Economy

By WILLIAM THOMAS

Dr. John Kenneth Galbraith, in his element before a university audience on the Gordon Head campus Thursday night, explored the causes of the economic depression of the 30s, analysed the reasons for current prosperity, forecast the problems of the future and avoided embarrassing questions with wit and skill.

Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the University of Victoria, presented Dr. Galbraith's credentials: a top adviser to the late President Kennedy, former U.S. ambassador to India and now a professor of economics at Harvard.

Professor Galbraith explored the facts of the economic revolution brought about by the theories of the late John Maynard Keynes, a British economist.

Professor Galbraith explained that in his opinion it was the alignment of the public's wishes with Keynesian theories of a controlled economy that have sustained the postwar boom.

He cited the current inflationary trends in the U.S. as an example of where the principle of using taxation to syphon off excess purchasing power was not being applied forcibly enough or fast enough.

The crazy, Ontario-born Scot predicted the problems of the future were not of economics but rather of urban sprawl, clean air and pure water.

So far, he said, the public's wishes have not made themselves felt to politicians and economists.

The six-foot-eight economist stooped over the microphone and offered his own allegory, on our preoccupation with economics.

"The ultimate civilized man will, when faced with the ultimate traffic jam, draw his last breath choked by carbon monoxide fumes and say, 'Last year the economy increased by a record amount!'"

Quizzed by a member of the audience on the U.S. holding of 1,000,000 rupees in Indian currency, Professor Galbraith quipped, "This is a clear case of a little knowledge getting you into a lot of trouble."

The former ambassador explained the money was merely window-dressing for Congress, and pure bookkeeping. It was in part payment for food, most of which was an outright gift.

Another questioner was dismissed as "an idiot," but good naturedly.

Professor Galbraith explained at the start that this was a lecture, and then went on to maintain the student-professor relationship which allowed him great latitude. He showed his dour, dry, Scots wit time and again.

After leading his audience down the intricate byways of Keynesian economics, he said,

"If you don't follow this, be comforted, as millions of others have not followed it."

He refused to be drawn into a discussion of his views on Viet Nam, although he has been an outspoken critic of the Johnson administration's handling of the war.

At a tea on the campus Thursday afternoon, he did expand on the subject.

"I am not at all happy about the Viet Nam policy. My views have, however, been overstated on this subject."

"I am opposed to the war, in summary, I have never supposed for a moment that the United States has any vital interest in South Viet Nam, and certainly none that would involve our taking sides in what is, to a substantial measure, a civil war and one in which it is very difficult to imagine that those Vietnamese who survive the war will be very much better off."

"I have never thought this was a useful place to spend the lives and the money that we are devoting there."

During his evening meeting, Professor Galbraith commented that the war effort was only a minor factor in the present inflationary trend.

He cited the fact the conflict was costing two per cent of the gross national product, compared to as much as 16 per cent during the Korean War.

Professor Galbraith said he was puzzled by the attitudes of his friend, former finance minister Walter Gordon.

The relationship between Canada and the U.S. is basically one of trade, said Mr. Galbraith.

"If he leaves trade untouched, control of trade unions untouched, and leaves the whole intimacy of cultural relations untouched and concentrates on the one topic of who owns General Motors, it strikes me as taking hold of a rather small corner of the whole problem."

He added: "I was queried extensively in France about Chrysler buying into Simca, but when you press them on the subject they agree that Chrysler will have to conform to French legislation and then they agree that they will and the same applies in Canada. Any laws Ottawa passes, General Motors will obey."

"Canada is not some South American republic where some corporation might presume to be above the law."

Asked to predict what might happen to the Canadian economy, the Harvard professor said, "I learned years ago that you should never predict unless you were very highly paid for it, and then it might be economically unwise. I do not foresee any disastrous depression that could not be handled by wise policies."

He concluded, "The right policy at the present time is to increase taxes, both corporate and individual, and build up a surplus."

Jury Cites Overlooked Belt

City Constable Negligent
In Jail Prisoner Suicide

A Victoria city policeman was found negligent by a coroner's jury Thursday night in the suicide death of a 28-year-old Victoria man.

William Archibald Dewar of 820 Fisgard was found hanging by his leather waist belt in the city lockup last Saturday morning.

The jury ruled the death as suicide and found Constable Robert Morris negligent in failing to discover the man's belt and remove it at the time he was searched.

ON DUTY ALONE

Constable Morris was on duty alone in the cell block at the time of the death.

The jury also told Coroner Edmund Jure de St. Jorre that it questioned whether one jailer was sufficient to exercise supervision for the number of prisoners that can be accommodated in the city lockup. At the time of the suicide there were 18.

Testifying at the inquest, psychiatrist Dr. Douglas Alcorn said he had treated Mr. Dewar for depression from Dec. 31, 1964 until March 24 the next year.

He said he had seen Dewar again on Sept. 22 this year when he again appeared quite depressed.

ON WAITING LIST

The doctor told the jury that he had placed the man's name on the waiting list at the psychiatric ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital but due to a shortage of beds he could not get him in.

The alcohol content of the Dewar's blood was rated at .35 per cent at the time of his death, according to evidence.

NO CONTROL

The doctor told the jury that a person with such an alcohol rating would be extremely intoxicated.

"They would be barely able to walk properly, judgement and speech would be impaired, normal control over conduct would have ceased," he said.

City police inspector Charles Webb told the inquest that department regulations call for prisoners to be searched and all objects or parts of clothing that could cause harm removed.

Too Ill

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tom Weiskopf pulled off some of the most spectacular shots ever seen on the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club course then announced he is pulling out of the Canadian open golf tournament because his health is more important than the $20,000 first prize.

"I've got an infection in my stomach, I've lost 20 pounds in the last three weeks, I'm taking eight pills plus two tranquilizers a day and I'm getting married in October," said the 23-year-old Bedford, Ohio, professional, who blasted a 175-yard shot out of the woods for an eagle, his second in four holes.

Tough Task

"I'm just a bundle of nerves, I just don't feel like playing golf. It's difficult to explain to someone who isn't out there every day," said the professional of two years.

Weiskopf, who has competed in 27 tournaments this year with total earnings exceeding $38,000, said he will be back on the pro tour "after I go back and see my parents and friends and have a few good meals."

All Nerves

"I'm not quitting because of anything that happened today," said Weiskopf in reference to a one-over-par on the 17th and two-over on the 18th.

"I had a good score and I've had a wonderful year but I'm just a bundle of nerves. I made plane reservations this morning to leave Vancouver Friday before I even came out here that's how sure I was, I was even going to miss the cut."

First-Day Surprises

'Nobody' Leads Canadian Open

VANCOUVER (CP) — Americans Hugh Royer and Tom Weiskopf, two also rans in the field of professional golf, pulled off the surprises at the Canadian open golf tournament Thursday — Royer by gaining the first-day lead and Weiskopf by abruptly quitting the tournament.

"I'm pulling out, I'm sick," Weiskopf of Bedford, Ohio, said a crowded press room a few hours after he pulled off some of the finest golf shots ever seen on the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club course. (See adjoining story.)

NEVER BIG WINNER

Royer, a 30-year-old veteran of six years in the pro ranks but never a big money winner, blazed around the wet 6,907-yard course with a three-under-par 68, one stroke better than Rex Baxter Jr., of Houston, Tex.

Billy Casper of Peacock Gap, Calif., and Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, the tournament favorites, had disappointing days.

ASSORTMENT THIRD

Jammed in a five-way tie for third spot with 70s were an assortment of American pros, including Homero Blancas of Houston, Dick Crawford of El Dorado, Ark., Tom Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., Randy Glover of Florence, S.C., and Don Malsengale of Jacksonville, Tex.

Weiskopf was one of seven golfers tied for eighth with par 71s. Among them was Canadian favorite George Knudson of Toronto who led three amateur partners to victory in Wednesday's Pro-Am contest and finished third among the pros with an individual score of 69.

JOHNSTON LEADS

John Johnston of Vancouver shot a one-over 72 to lead the 10 amateur entries. Two strokes behind was another Vancouver entry — Bert Theobald, Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., and John Russell of Vancouver shared third place with 75s.

Bill Martindale of Dallas and Jim Ferree of Savannah, Ga., who tied for the lead ahead of Knudson, finished back in the pack, Ferree with a 73 and Martindale with 76.

Al Balding, a Toronto pro, was three strokes off par and Stan Leonard of Vancouver, seven strokes back.

Defending champion Gene Little of Las Vegas, seventh among the PGA money winners with $61,000, carded 74.

DIDN'T FINISH

A field of 143 started Thursday, but was cut to 140 with the withdrawal of Weiskopf and pro Damien Gauthier of Montreal and M. C. Flitts of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Gauthier shot a 10-over-par 45 on his first nine and didn't turn in a card. Flitts had 40 on his first nine and also didn't hand in a card.

Royer said he missed a birdie on the 16th when the ball missed the cup and "that was the only time I might have cut down my score."

He said he took only 25 putts during a sort of corroded putter that might break any day. "It was given to him by a friend in 1960 when he turned pro."

LOW WINNINGS

Royer's best tournament this year was 13th place finish in the Cleveland Open. His winnings this year barely exceed $3,400.

The second-place Baxter said he was "pleasantly surprised" with the good conditions of the greens, but he agreed with Casper the pins on a couple were placed in soft spots.

The first round start of the 72-hole tournament was a double-tea affair. Half of the original 142 field, including 31 Canadians, started on hole one and the other half on the 10th. They will alternate tees for today's second round, starting at 8 a.m.

The 140-golfer field will be cut to 70 plus ties after the first 36 holes which will be completed today.

The other Canadian professionals included Bill Wakeham of Victoria with a 74; Alvie Thompson, Toronto; Frank Fowler, Calgary and Jack Bissegger, Montreal, all 75; Joe Jeroski, Vancouver, 76; Adrien Bigras, Rosemead, Que., 77; Neil Green, Calgary, and Dick Munn, Vancouver, both 78; Len Collett, Vancouver; Frank Whaley, Kitchener; Finn Sorensen, Edmonton, and Bob Kidd, Penicton, all 79; Al Nelson, New Westminster, B.C.; Mel White, Vancouver and Bill Mawhinney, Toronto, both 81.

Asked later if Skrien would be head coach next season, Eyre said that right now "we are only looking to win six games this year."

Eyre said the word discipline did not come up. Directors discussed performance only.

Lions' next game is here Monday night against Hamilton.

One other thing — should the Dodgers enter the series, they will break an undistinguished record. They've been shut out 17 times and the previous mark was 15 for New York Giants in 1913 and the Phillies in 1915.

Koufax, now 26-9, went into the game with 294 strikeouts. He reached and passed the 300 level when he struck out the side in the fourth inning. Koufax struck out 306 batters in 1963 and fanned 283 last season.

JOHNSON, WADDELL

Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators and Rube Waddell of the Philadelphia Athletics previously were tied with Koufax for the record with two 300-strikeout seasons each.

Koufax, who also struck out the side in the sixth inning, wound up with 13 strikeouts, marking the 14th time this season and the 96th time in his career that he has struck out 10 or more batters in a game.

The only run off the arithmetic left-hander came in the seventh, when the Cards' Curt Flood homered over the left field wall.

TWO-OUT DOUBLE
Singles by Orlando Cepeda in the second inning and Tim Lincecum in the fifth, and Flood's two-out double in the ninth were the only other hits off Koufax.

The Dodgers scored their first run in the second inning on three singles.

Lions Give Skrien Vote of Confidence

VANCOUVER (CP) — Directors of the British Columbia Lions Thursday gave head coach Dave Skrien a vote of confidence, but would not say whether it extends through the duration of his contract or only to the end of the current football season.

Skrien, under fire because the 1964 Grey Cup champions missed the Western Conference playoffs last year and have won only two of 10 games this season, has another year to go on his second three-year contract.

He joined the coaching staff eight years ago and has been head coach since 1961.

WOULDN'T ELABORATE
The resignation of offensive coach Frank Johnston, who joined the B.C. club in 1962, was announced by Skrien Wednesday night.

The official reason was ill health. Vancouver Sun football writer Jim Taylor, however, said Johnston was fired "because he wanted to fight a system he felt was protecting the little group of non-producing punts-downs who have greased the skids for the Lions."

Johnston said he had resigned, but would not elaborate. The directors issued this statement.

"The board of directors of the B.C. Lions met in a two-hour meeting this morning and all matters involving the team's present situation and standings were thoroughly discussed.

DIRECTORS UNHAPPY
"The resignation of assistant coach Frank Johnston was acknowledged and the directors also met, at the request of the team, with a delegation from the players. The players expressed complete support for the head coach."

"The board also received a detailed report from head coach Dave Skrien."

"Following the meeting, president Alan Eyre said, 'the directors are neither happy nor satisfied with the win-loss record of the team but we do feel we have both the coaching staff and the players who can get the job done.'"

Asked later if Skrien would be head coach next season, Eyre said that right now "we are only looking to win six games this year."

Eyre said the word discipline did not come up. Directors discussed performance only.

Lions' next game is here Monday night against Hamilton.

One other thing — should the Dodgers enter the series, they will break an undistinguished record. They've been shut out 17 times and the previous mark was 15 for New York Giants in 1913 and the Phillies in 1915.

Koufax, now 26-9, went into the game with 294 strikeouts. He reached and passed the 300 level when he struck out the side in the fourth inning. Koufax struck out 306 batters in 1963 and fanned 283 last season.

JOHNSON, WADDELL

Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators and Rube Waddell of the Philadelphia Athletics previously were tied with Koufax for the record with two 300-strikeout seasons each.

Koufax, who also struck out the side in the sixth inning, wound up with 13 strikeouts, marking the 14th time this season and the 96th time in his career that he has struck out 10 or more batters in a game.

The only run off the arithmetic left-hander came in the seventh, when the Cards' Curt Flood homered over the left field wall.

TWO-OUT DOUBLE
Singles by Orlando Cepeda in the second inning and Tim Lincecum in the fifth, and Flood's two-out double in the ninth were the only other hits off Koufax.

The Dodgers scored their first run in the second inning on three singles.

Dodger Pennant Possible Today

Thanks to the magnificent Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers need only to win today to clinch a tie for the National League pennant—and can even take it all.

In St. Louis Thursday night, Koufax stopped the Cardinals 2-1 on four hits and became the first pitcher in major league history to reach the 300 strike-out level in three different seasons.

That put the Dodgers two games ahead of Pittsburgh and 3 1/2 up on San Francisco. Today, they start Claude Osteen, 17-13, against the Phillies' Chris Short, 15-10, as they move to Philadelphia for three final games.

MARICHAL TODAY
San Francisco opens a three-game series in Pittsburgh with Juan Marichal, 24-6, against Woody Fryman, 12-9. The Giants also will play in Cincinnati Monday if the pennant is still at stake.

San Francisco can tie only if the Giants win everything and the Dodgers lose everything. And if the Pirates lose and Los Angeles wins today, it's all over. In fact, only a Dodger defeat will keep things alive.

MANY GOOSE EGGS
One other thing — should the Dodgers enter the series, they will break an undistinguished record. They've been shut out 17 times and the previous mark was 15 for New York Giants in 1913 and the Phillies in 1915.

Most Fishing Excitement Now

What we consider the most exciting fishing time of the year is here.

The trout are in the rivers. Salmon may be caught by spinning off the river mouths and in the saltchuck it's bucktailing time. At certain points like Qualicum and Alberni Inlet there is good spring (chinook) salmon fishing.

At Campbell River anglers are finding the fall coho plentiful, but scattered—in Discovery Passage, from Menzies Bay to Race Point, Duncan Bay, Maud Island, off the river mouth April Point, Quathlaski Cove and down to Willow Point, Bates Beach and Little River.

Up and Down

Spin-casting for them from boats is providing the most fun, using 1/4 to 3/4-ounce Helldivers or Doodly Dicks. Cast them from the boat and let them sink, then retrieve them a little and then let them sink back and then retrieve again very quickly, and so on.

Trollers have been hitting on red Henry Smith wobble spoons. Spin-casters working the river mouths of the Oyster and the Campbell are picking up some salmon on T-spoons. It is northern hooknose coho time on the bucktail from Deep Bay to Qualicum and there are plenty of fish around.

River Mouths

That applies especially off the river mouths of Nile Creek, Big Qualicum and Little Qualicum, but also off Chrome Island (Yellow Rock) and off Eagle Crest at Qualicum.

Coronation and red and white bucktails are working well. Weighted spoons are getting the coho from the beaches at the river mouths.

Although there are plenty of fish showing it can at times be frustrating fishing. You must wait for a bite and then the action really starts, and stops just as suddenly.

All the Way

Alberni Inlet is reported thick with average-sized coho and tye salmon from the harbor at Port Alberni all the way down to China Creek, Franklin River and Nahmint.

The further down-inlet you go the brighter the fish, but some of the best action has been in the harbor area. T-spoons are producing in the harbor area and further down Strip-Tasers and Alaskan plugs produce best.

In Cowichan Bay there is some good mooching with small minnows for spring (chinooks), in the seven and eight-pound class right off Skinner Point.

Under Line

Coho are showing along the Wiluma side, in Sasum Narrows, in Maple Bay and under the powerlines.

Saanich Inlet fishing is still rather spotty, but it is time for the coho at Bamberton, Mill Bay, Hatch Point areas and Finlayson Arm reports both coho and spring (chinooks) being taken.

Sidney has been providing some fair fishing.

Commercial salmon fishing stops in the Gulf of Georgia this weekend (Oct. 1) and that should mean better fishing for sports anglers for the tail-end of the season.

Until Then

Juan de Fuca Strait commercial fishing west of William Head stops Nov. 1, so sports fishermen will likely have to contend with competition from net fishermen until then.

Sooke to Pedder Bay fishing has been spotty, but on the weekend there was an average of two coho to a boat. That isn't too bad, but mere crumbs compared to the fishing in the seasons before the surf line for netting was established. Netters had three days this week and are still running into excellent coho catches, best in years.

Rivers and lakes are coming alive again for trout fishermen. Oyster and Salmon rivers have been giving up good cuthroat fishing with the fish pretty well distributed along the rivers, which are just now approaching good fishing levels. Split shots and works have been working best with Super 88 red and white spoons and small T-spoons also working well, especially at the mouths.

Lower Campbell and Upper Campbell are producing well on lake trolls and also on deer hackle dry flies. All lakes should be good fishing now.

Some trout are being taken in the Qualicum on worms, single salmon eggs and salmon egg flies.

There has been a good run of steelhead in Cous Creek off Alberni Inlet, the Stamp and Ash have been fair for cuts, the Sproat is giving up some good jack spring and jack coho fishing.

Sea-run cutthroats are being taken near the mouth of the Nanaimo River and also in the Puntledge on fly.

Steelhead are in the Nitinat and so are a few salmon.

Story of a Race-Fix Probe

NEW YORK (CP) — A Brooklyn grand jury's investigation into New York harness racing has been postponed until

Oct. 11, ostensibly to give authorities time to study testimony already received.

Grand jury sessions are closed, but local newspapers have published whatever they could find out about the probe into allegations of race fixing by racketeers.

The racing industry has protested the probe smears innocent people and demanded quick action against any guilty parties.

The fact that District Attorney Aaron Koota of Brooklyn is investigating Roosevelt, Yonkers and Monticello race tracks came to public attention Aug. 26. The Daily News ran a story saying reporters at Yonkers raceway had seen drivers being served with subpoenas to appear before the grand jury.

Koota's office confirmed the investigation had started.

Koota said he had the cooperation of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, the state attorney-general, the harness racing commission and the prosecutors of Nassau, Westchester and Sullivan counties, where the tracks are located.

FOLLOWING EARLIER PROBE

The district attorney said the investigation arose from another one into the alleged involvement of Brooklyn underworld figures in legitimate businesses.

Last week, the state harness racing commission suspended indefinitely the licenses of two horse owners who refused to answer questions before the Brooklyn grand jury.

PREVIOUS REFUSED

The pair, Benny Alaimo and Nicholas Seminara, had previously refused to sign waivers of immunity for testimony before the same grand jury.

The commission identified the two men as owners of Redwood Farms Stable, Brooklyn, which commission records showed had only one horse, Floyd M.

Clean Bill — But Less Golf

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the millionaire golfer, has passed a physical examination but also has been told to cut down on his golf and other activities.

The 37-year-old star from Latrobe, Pa., said Wednesday he had just received the report on his physical check-up at a Pittsburgh clinic which showed "I was in good shape."

"I was concerned specifically about rheumatic arthritis, but I was cleared on that score," Palmer added. "However, I was told I would have to slow down or take a longer rest."

"I don't know yet how this will affect my 1967 golf schedule. I probably will have to cut back

Pro Football Men Still Viewing Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle and several professional club owners will visit Seattle within three weeks, an assistant to Rozelle said Wednesday.

Ball Missing For Villa Game

Victoria O'Keefe's will be without the services of forward Russ Ball when they play host to Burnaby Villa in Macdonald Park at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Ball, who injured his right knee three weeks ago, is having trouble recuperating. For two years, he suffered ligament trouble in his left knee and then had it corrected by an operation.

Peter Brett, an impressive rookie, may be out also with a knee injury he received in last week's game against Columbus, unless the knee loosens.

The juniors under Doug Day will make their debut in Inter-City Junior Soccer League Sunday in New Westminster.

VIEWSON SPORT

By Red Smith

It has been a sad time. A week ago, George Skelton died in that plane crash in Idaho. And the other day, a great and lovely lady from Americus, Ga., Mrs. Grandland Rice, was buried.

Granny Rice went away in July of 1954 and his Kate waited patiently for 12 years to rejoin him. She was dreadfully lonely and terribly strong and she did not complain. But if it was hard for her, one wonders what the separation must have been for Granny, who needed her so.

He needed her even to tune in the ball game or race results on the radio. "Kit," he would call pleadingly through the house, snatching his hand away from the snarling monster as though it had bitten him. "Kit, come fix this thing for me, will you, honey?"

Now the waiting is over for both. In this world it was usually Miss Kitty who waited for Granny. She enjoyed telling of the time she waited all night because on his rounds Granny had encountered his old West Point football pals, Gen. Rosie O'Donnell and Gen. Blondie Saunders.

Boon Companions

They had things to talk about and kept finding places where talk flowed freely. Naturally, Kate was worried until daylight brought the uncertain scratching of his key in the lock.

"It's all right, honey," her spouse assured her. "I was just out with Rosie and Blondie."

George Skelton, who died with four hunting companions in an Idaho canyon, was a sportsman in the truest sense, who fought, rode, played polo and tennis, fished and hunted for the pure joy of it.

Somebody, distinguishing amateurs from professionals, has said an amateur is a man who can afford to lose. As president of Great Lakes Carbon, George could afford anything except losing. That amateur did not do it if there was an honest way to avoid it.

He was a big, laughing guy who would try anything twice. Tennis was his first love, but one night he busted an ankle entertaining the folks in the Lido in Paris.

Name of the Game

He'd been doing a circus trick he learned in boyhood, balancing on a ceiling-high tower of swaying tables and chairs.

Unable to play tennis with his leg in a cast, he turned to polo because that way he could get his exercise sitting down.

The game hooked him. Head of the Metropolitan Polo Association, he was the moving force behind the Sunday matches up in Westchester County, and even after the Seventh Regiment Armory was torn down he continued the fight to save indoor polo for New York winters.

To him fighting was the name of the game, any game. He joined a club of horsemen, who annually take a week's ride in the California mountains, moving from camp to camp.

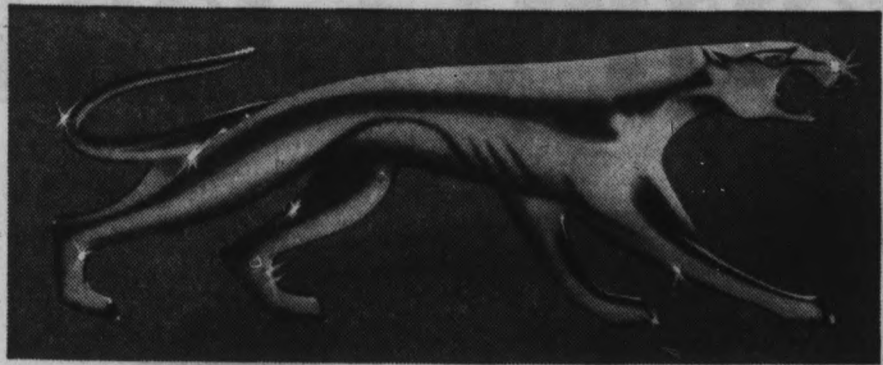

Hearing him tell, in his small, deceptively mild voice, of battles royal with members who ganged up to haze him on his first ride was like reading the script for that fight of John Wayne's in The Quiet Man. Big George was all man, all sportsman, all battler, and we could not afford to lose him.

Lemmes in happier times

Hungary Jails Seattle Couple

BUDAPEST (AP)—Volker B. Lemme, a German-born Canadian, was sentenced Thursday to eight months in prison and his American wife, Janet, to six months by a Hungarian court after being found guilty of attempts to cross the Hungarian frontier illegally.

The charge arose from the couple's unsuccessful attempt to smuggle Lemme's East German sister and brother-in-law out of Hungary by using forged Canadian passports.

The Budapest Central District ruled the three months already spent in jail by the couple pending the trial will be included in the term.

The Lemmes' home is in Seattle, Wash.

TERMS 'LIGHT'
Lemme's relatives were visiting Hungary as tourists when the escape attempt was made, the court was told.

The sentences were considered light although the verdict against Janet Lemme meant the court rejected her statement and that of her husband that she was only an "inactive participant" in the attempt.

ACQUITTAL ASKED
Her counsel had asked for her acquittal.

Lemme's counsel had asked for "minimum punishment" because of what he called the "maximum human justification" for the attempt to bring out Lemme's sister, Birke Mankewitz, and her husband, Kurt. Mrs. Mankewitz was suffering from tuberculosis and a heart disease. She attempted suicide earlier this year after the death of her 1½-year-old child.

Fewer Houses Mean Higher Rents

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A cutback in new houses is helping to feed inflationary pressures, an economist says.

"Restricting the supply of new dwellings at a time when the need for accommodation is growing fast is producing a shortage of housing," W. Allan Beckett told the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association Thursday.

"The result will be rising rents which will help feed inflationary pressures." He called on the federal government to "give some thought to stimulating house-building" rather than restraining it.

LAUDABLE PLAN
"One can sympathize with the laudable objectives of the government in attempting to control inflation. But it is a fact that a restrictive monetary policy falls unevenly on different sectors."

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp is taking the "worst possible steps" if he intends to ease inflationary pressures on the economy, the president of a 100,000-member union said Thursday.

Stanley A. Little of the Canadian Union of Public Employees said in a statement the finance minister should be concerned about helping increase productivity.

"Instead, by cutting back research grants and postponing the federal program of scholarships to university students, he is taking the worst possible step."

The CUPE president referred to Mr. Sharp's announcement earlier this month of a slowdown in the increase in federal grants for research and the deferment of the $10,000,000 scholarship program for university students.

One cannot help but suspect that in his spending cutbacks Mr. Sharp chose what seemed to him a politically safe area in which to try to make the program for university students public think the federal government has a program to keep the economy expanding at a sound rate of growth," Mr. Little said.

In fact, the government "continues to wallow through the stormy seas of short-run political expediency," Mr. Little said.

One cannot help but suspect that in his spending cutbacks Mr. Sharp chose what seemed to him a politically safe area in which to try to make the program for university students

Sanctions 'Beginning to Bite'

OTTAWA (CP) — Arthur Bottomley, Britain's minister of overseas development, assured Commonwealth colleagues Thursday that sanctions against Rhodesia are "beginning to bite."

Prison for Smith Non-Whites' Wish

OTTAWA (CP) — A Ceylonese delegate to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association has urged Thursday that Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith be thrown in jail so the world will not have the impression there is one law for the blacks and another for the whites.

Dr. N. M. Perera drew applause from non-white delegates when he said that the British government had retaliated against colored groups when they tried to rebel in British colonies.

But he said he wanted the Rhodesian economy and it was estimated that about 85 per cent of last year's crop was still in store.

The Smith regime had agreed to buy tobacco at a price below the cost of production, at two shillings — about 30 cents — a pound.

"But I can state authoritatively that many farmers are not getting the two shillings."

When the crop now sown is ready for harvest, he said, tobacco gime destroyed "as fervently as anyone else in this assembly today," he made no predictions on the means lay in economic sanctions.

Use of force would carry the danger of creating another Vietnam in Africa, he said.

Mr. Bottomley said he felt the one sanction that would prove effective against Rhodesia was the halting of shipments of tobacco.

CROP UNSOLD

This was a basic crop to the Rhodesian economy and it was estimated that about 85 per cent

Eager to get going in first game of darts to be played in public house in B.C., Bill Campbell, second from right, and Big John Smith, right, have to be restrained by Red Lions Motor Inn manager Kenneth Hole and sales manager Irvin Lang. Red Lion is sponsoring dart club which will use inn as home club, and public dart throwing will be permitted as well.—(Robin Clarke Photo)

Everyone Happy

Darts Part of Scene In New Victoria 'Pub'

By GEORGE INGLIS
Victoria stepped into the big league of the dart-throwers' world Wednesday as the Red Lion Motor Inn became the first public house in the province to place the Old Country sport on the bill of fare.

The inn, which is rapidly becoming one of the most enthusiastic backers of sports in the city, now is the proud parent of a group of 14 Scots whose favorite pastime is throwing balanced darts at a circle of pig bristle.

Red Lions manager Ken Hole, approached by Bill Campbell, captain of the team that was formerly sponsored by Yarrows Ltd., liked the sound of the idea.

"It fits in with the atmosphere we are trying to accomplish," he said.

Bill Bruce, head of the Liquor Control Board licensing, favored the idea also. "Just so long as it is kept under control," he said.

To the casual observer, there may be some question about this, as the boisterous sideliners heckle the players with such cries as "Watch your knuckles on the board, Jock!" However, they are only telling the player he is edging over the foul line.

"Does three in a bed mean drinks on the house?" another query which smacks of the Old Sod, where three darts in the triple 20 region mean the landlord has to spring for the house.

It isn't necessary to have an accent to play the game, but it helps, since 95 per cent of the players are from the United Kingdom.

In England, Ireland and Scotland, darts are played in every public house, and the custom is for a newcomer to put his name on a blackboard as a challenge to the winner of the game in progress.

In Canada, until Wednesday, darts have been played largely in Legion halls.

The Red Lion's team will play in the same league they played in last year as Yarrows, against Britannia Legion; Pro-Pats; Trafalgar Legion, A and B; Prince Edwards (Langford), A and B, and Esquimalt Legion.

They will play host to each of the other teams twice and play away twice, for a total of 28 games.

Most of them come from Greenock, attracted to Victoria by the shipyards.

Team members are: Campbell, captain; Gill Murray; Wilson Murray; Bill Morrison; Roy Kennedy; Jim McGarry; John McAlees; Ralph Markwood, all of Greenock; Bill Copeland, Glasgow; Bill Acken-close, Newcastle; and Jim Barclay, Bishoptown, near Glasgow.

Victoria Tories Undecided On Leadership Question

Victoria's Progressive Conservatives haven't decided officially yet whether to back John Diefenbaker or Dalton Camp in the current leadership dispute.

Brian Smith, one of the senior members of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association, said Thursday night that no vote on the matter had been taken among the local ranks.

"I expect there'll be a large division on that matter in Victoria. Many of the senior citizens living here have a great deal of respect for Mr. Diefenbaker," Mr. Smith said.

ELECTION OCT. 13

The association holds its annual election of officers Oct. 13, and further comment might be forthcoming after that, he said.

Young Progressive Conservatives in Victoria endorsed a resolution Wednesday night backing Mr. Camp's call for a leadership vote this fall.

Mr. Camp is national president of the PCs.

WHOSE God Is Dead?

What's behind the Death of God movement which believes God is irrelevant in modern life, that His death must be accepted and the churches must learn to get along without Him? October Reader's Digest features a penetrating interview with one of the greatest ministers of this century, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, who suggests, "Perhaps...there are many concepts of God that should die." Read this revealing article which explains why so many have lost their faith in God and of how our idea of God should change as we mature. October Reader's Digest—on sale now.

So you've actually got your wife convinced that you save money by trading cars every two or three years.

You rascal.

Why don't you cut that out.

There are cars that will hold up longer than two or three years, as you well know.

A Volvo will hold up quite a bit longer than two or three years.

In Sweden, where there are no speed limits on the highways and over 70,000 miles of unpaved roads, Volvos are driven an average of eleven years.

Keep a Volvo just six years and you'll make out. That'll give you three years to pay for it, three years to put money in the bank after you've paid for it.

A Volvo will give you something else you may never have experienced before: performance and economy. Volvos run away from every other compact in their class...yet deliver over 30 miles to the gallon, even with automatic transmission.

And if you're concerned about having a six year old car sitting in the drive way, don't be. Your neighbors won't notice its age any more than you will.

Volvos aren't given a new look every year. So you're not stuck with an older look every year.

Resides, your neighbors won't be wondering why you have a six year old car in the driveway.

They'll be wondering when you got the money to take your wife and kids to Europe.

Pint-Sized Cars, Drivers To Learn Traffic Safety

A pint-sized village, with pint-sized cars for pint-sized drivers, is to be built on Centennial property at Colwood.

Pedal cars will be used in the village to teach traffic safety to youngsters. They will be scaled-down versions of Austin cars.

Jail Term Charge Clarified

Sidney Hayward, 52 Cadillac, was sentenced in county court Tuesday to six months in jail for attempted breaking and entering—not attempted breaking, entering and theft as reported earlier.

Biggest Edition

CALGARY (CP) — The Herald has produced its largest edition printed in a single press run, without addition of pre-printed sections. A new Crabtree press turned out a 92-page, 20-ounce edition.

which have been donated to the project by Thomas Plimley Ltd. and the British Motor Corporation.

The South Van Isle Lions Club has been asked to sponsor the project, which was started by the joint centennial committees of the area, under chairman Harold Drummond.

Lions Club chairman Vernon Ford said Wednesday, "Although the club has not officially approved the project, all the members are excited about it. Our club has been lacking a large-scale idea to work on in the area."

He said roads would be built with street signs and signals.

Dock Work Speeds Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — Port manager B. D. L. Johnson announced Tuesday the National Harbors Board has decided to speed up its project to build three new deepsea berths. They should be completed within five years.

Insecticide Poisoning

Only Twelve Cases

Only three per cent of the poisoning cases treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital are caused by insecticides.

Miss Mary Lewis, head nurse in the hospital's emergency department, says that of the 400 persons treated between June 1, 1965, and May 31 this year, only 12 had swallowed insecticides.

Two Rescued From Plane

BELLA COOLA (CP) — Two men were rescued without injury after their light float-equipped plane flipped over after making a forced landing Tuesday in the sea. RCMP said pilot Gregory Percy was forced down by bad weather. The passenger was not identified.

"The insecticide trouble seems to be seasonal, usually the heaviest during summer months," said Miss Lewis.

Most of the victims are children, between the ages of one and four who swallowed substances which could have been kept out of their reach, she said.

Leighton-Pelland

Honeymoon in California

A bodice of lace highlighted the floor-length sheath gown of Sonesta worn by Julia Vale Pelland when she became the bride of Terence Leighton Mann in St. Patrick's Church. The empire-line bodice was styled with long sleeves of lace, ending in lily points. Her detachable cathedral lace train extended from the shoulders. A coronet of Alençon lace and seed pearls held her hand-rolled veil of silk illusion. Jewelry was a drop pearl pendant and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow garnet roses and white carnations with ivy.

Father A. E. Leonard officiated at the double-ring ceremony, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Pelland, 2689 Capital Heights and the son of Mrs. H. Mann, 3180 Stevenson Place, and the late Joseph Mann. Mr. Pelland gave his daughter in marriage.

Baskets of large white disbuds and tangerine-colored gladioli decorated the church for the ceremony. Soloist Mrs. T. Fortune sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register, accompanied by organist Mrs. L. Gill.

Miss Susan Pelland was maid of honor for her sister and bridesmaid was the groom's sister, Miss Donna Mann. Their empire gowns were of orange blossom silk, styled with detachable coats extending from the shoulders in an A-line fashion. They wore tangerine and cream-toned feathered chrysanthemums in their hair. Bouquets were chrysanthemums in tangerine and pale yellow tones, with ivy.

Little Debby Hanley, the groom's niece, was flower girl. Her floor-length frock was dotted Swiss over orange blossoms.

Some chrome-spun taffeta, styled along empire lines. She wore a circlet of flowers in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of tangerine chrysanthemums. Kenneth Mann was best man. Ushering the guests were Barry Girard and Robert Langton. Mrs. H. Landver played the organ at the reception following in Holyrood House. The bridal table, decorated with an arrangement of yellow roses, was centred by a three-tier wedding cake made by the bride's mother. The cake was decorated in white and topped with a garland of yellow roses. Lloyd Patterson proposed the toast to his niece.

For travelling on honeymoon to Las Vegas and California, the new Mrs. Mann chose a three-piece wool suit in oyster tones. Her Riviera-styled hat was in tones of orange, yellow and pink paisley. A corsage of Johanna Hill roses in cream tones completed her ensemble.

When they return, the couple will live at the William Talmie Fraser Apartments.

Brian Cowan officiated. Godparents were Mrs. Dorothy Pektet, Miss Wendy Strong and Mr. Dave Gray. The baby wore a long gown made by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. Gray of Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. B. Wiley, the baby's paternal grandparents came from Nanaimo for the ceremony.

Greeks Crack Down On 'Baby Traffic'

ATHENS (Reuters) — The Greek government has moved to crack down on a lucrative racket in which Greek babies have been illegally sold and smuggled out of the country for adoption abroad.

Parliament passed a bill tightening up adoption procedures in an effort to curb the "baby traffic" while still permitting legal adoption practices.

Justice Minister Constantine Stefanakis said the new legislation is aimed at ensuring "adequate control and safeguards" with respect to the babies' foster parents.

The "baby traffic" was uncovered when mothers complained in court that their babies were taken away to be delivered to unknown destinations.

Last year, the head of a children's hospital in Salonika, northern Greece, was sentenced to four years in prison for illegally selling babies. A doctor and the hospital's chief midwife were also convicted.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My life is wrecked because I believed a handsome boss when he said:

1. "My wife and I have had separate bedrooms for years. Our marriage is an empty shell."

2. "I would like nothing better than to take you to the finest places for dinner but we can't risk being seen by my friends or associates."

3. "If it weren't for the children I would have gotten a divorce long ago."

4. "How sad that we didn't meet 20 years ago. What a wonderful life we could have had together."

5. "There is no reason to feel guilty, dearest. A marriage licence is only a piece of paper."

6. "Your love has given me a whole new world. I really pity my wife. She will never know the happiness and fulfillment that I now know."

Twelve years later this last statement opened my eyes. "The trip we have planned for years is off, darling. I must take my wife. But I will be thinking of you every minute. And listen, dearest, I'll be away almost two months, so maybe you'd better look for another man. Loneliness can be a terrible thing." — A 43-YEAR-OLD FAILURE

Dear Failure: Your letter qualifies you for honorary membership in the "Old-Too-Soon, Smart-Too-Late-Club." Thank you for writing. And P.S. If you don't take your boss' advice you are a hopeless idiot.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago you had a real donkeybrook in your column with a Harvard psychiatrist who thought grade school children should be taught to drink liquor early — like in kindergarten. His theory was that they would then think of liquor as just another beverage. This was his answer to the growing problem of alcoholism.

I just read an Associated Press Report that should settle the question. It said: "Communist authorities in Eastern Europe are fighting a losing battle against drunkenness. In Czechoslovakia and Hungary, where children drink wine with meals, as American children drink water, alcoholic poisoning among youngsters is on the increase. On Easter Monday the hospital clinic in Budapest had a case of extreme drunkenness."

Death Driver Draws Jail

A 22-year-old driver of a car that slammed into three trees on Glen Lake Road June 4, killing a passenger, was sentenced in central magistrate's court Thursday to three months in jail.

Douglas Morrison, 1608 North Dairy, was convicted of dangerous driving by Magistrate J. A. Byers earlier this week.

Lee Williams, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Williams, died 12 hours after the accident.

SPEEDING CHARGES

Magistrate Byers said Morrison's traffic record showed three speeding convictions since August, 1965.

"The cause of the fatality was speed and drink," the magistrate said. "The accused has not learned anything from his convictions."

Morrison's licence was suspended for six months.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT

He was also fined $40 for careless driving in connection with another accident on the Trans-Canada Highway July 4.

A sailor who pulled an Air Cadet out of a car parked in a drive-in and assaulted him was sentenced to one month in jail.

Terrance Jones, CFB Esquimalt, pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to assault causing bodily harm.

FIRST OFFENCE

Magistrate William Ostler noted it was Jones' first offence and added: "I do not propose to let anyone get away with this kind of conduct."

Barry Reagan, 1132 Colville, was fined $25 on each of three counts of failing to file an income tax return for 1964.

Reagan, who pleaded not guilty, said he never received any demand notices from the revenue department.

WHY FEUD?

Magistrate Ostler said: "It is a mystery to me why people like you carry on a feud with the department of revenue."

Reagan was convicted of similar offences twice in 1964.

Jack Kanger, CFB Esquimalt, was given a suspended sentence and placed on a $500 bond for one year for a break-in.

He pleaded guilty last week to breaking into Aqua Marine Supplies.

Magistrate Ostler said it was a situation of a young man who could not hold his liquor.

A young motorist who failed to negotiate a turn on Beaver Lake Road Sept. 3 smashed his car into a rock bluff and was fined $100 for driving while his licence was suspended.

Glen Griesp, HMCS Yukon pleaded guilty. He told police his licence had been suspended the day before.

A 17-year-old girl passenger in the car was injured in the accident.

Hilding Todstrom of Vancouver was fined $350 and allowed to drive for business purposes only after he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

He was seen by police Thursday morning driving erratically in Oak Bay.

John Callin, HMCS Beacon Hill, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place.

Fined $35 for being minors in possession of liquor: Robert Jeffs, 18, 3831 Cumberland; Ronald McCorvie, HMCS Saskatchewan.

Fined $40 for careless driving: Anthony Hall, 124 Bushby; Louis Schmelz, 5246 Parker.

Complexion Care

The secret of beautifying the complexion is said to be in the type of moisturizer. The skin should take on an immediate healthy bloom as the tiny lines and blemishes are gently smoothed away. This saturation treatment with the moisturizer known as CEP 600 and CEP 1200 in double strength, is recommended by beauty-care consultants who also recommend its daily use as a powder base to give the complexion day-long beauty treatment. For the information of readers the discovery referred to is available here right now under the name "2nd Debut." Ask for "2nd Debut" by name at drug and department stores. Special introductory offer to my readers only! You will be mailed postpaid the $1.25 demonstration size of the regular $2.75 value 2nd Debut with CEP 600 if you send only $1.00 to me. MONTE CARLO (Reuters) — Monaco's 4,000 native citizens heaved a sigh of relief after the principality's economic council threw out a plan to tax them for the first time.

The economic council unanimously decided against a proposed real estate tax on all private property.

For more than 70 years, natives of Monaco have lived tax-free, thanks to the profits of the company which owns most of the principality's gambling and tourist interests.

Try Bonded Stock on a friend
without letting him see the label.

It's the best way to find out what people really think about a whisky: how do they like it when they don't know which brand they're drinking?

If you've tried Bonded Stock yourself, the playback won't surprise you. Bonded Stock is a great Canadian whisky. You can conceal the label but you can't disguise the flavour. It's an extremely mellow whisky with a deceptively smooth flavour that dyed-in-the-wool whisky drinkers love.

So if you know someone who buys whisky by labels, introduce him to flavour. Bonded Stock flavour.

He'll never look back.

No-Overtime Benefit

Interest in Union Aims May Grow with Ban

By JOHN MATTERS

Premier Bennett's ban on overtime could result in workers taking more interest in their unions, a Victoria labor official predicted Thursday.

Harry Anderson, secretary-treasurer of Victoria Labor Council, said it was his personal opinion that workers who have come to expect overtime with each cheque will be jolted.

"Some of these people may find that they have been so accustomed to overtime that it's part of their budgets—that they need the extra money to keep up with the payments."

10 CENTS OR 10'

"When they find out that this money isn't coming in, they may take more interest in what they're paid for a regular day's work."

Mr. Anderson said unions had for years been asking for less overtime.

"I've said that overtime rates should be either 10 cents or 10 an hour," he added. "That way, either nobody would want to pay it or nobody would want to work."

CIVIC EXAMPLE

Mr. Anderson did not think progress on construction projects in this area would be affected by the overtime ban. City Manager Dennis Young said that a survey had been started to see just what effect the edict would have on the city.

"I suppose that the suggestion is made in good faith and we, as a municipality, will be expected to follow it in good faith," he said.

Mr. Young said he would not be surprised to see a directive come down from the provincial department of municipal affairs asking compliance with the premier's order.

Comptroller John Tribe of Saanich said the ban would have

Servicemen Sad, Glad

By BOB PETHICK

Reaction among Victoria servicemen ranged all the way from resignation threats to happy surprise when the facts were made known Thursday about armed forces pay changes.

But the majority interviewed, officers and men in the family bracket, were withholding judgment until they could find out the effect of income tax now to be charged on allowances as well as basic pay.

MORE LIKE FOUR

"It was no nine per cent raise in our department," said one non-commissioned officer. "It was more like four per cent."

"Non-commissioned officers in other departments are getting paid as much as $75 a month more than I am."

PLEASANT SURPRISE

"Pleasantly surprised," said a lieutenant-commander when asked how he felt about the raise. "I stand to make an extra $94 before income tax is taken off. It was more than I expected. I spoke to a leading hand in my division who said his increase was $100."

He praised the new system of lumping together salaries and allowances. "It was well thought out," he said.

CAUGHT UP

"It has evened us out with the present cost of living," said one junior officer. "According to statistics, the cost of living has risen 4½ per cent each year for the past two years. Our nine-per cent increase lets us catch up."

"I was in a bracket that did not do so badly," said a technical man, "but I heard there had been strong reaction against it in many cases."

SOME UNHAPPY

"In some cases it's good, but not that good. I think overall it's going to cause a lot of hard feeling. Some people are really unhappy. I don't think it will do much for morale," he said.

The happiest men in the armed forces Thursday were the young single men who have been put in the same income bracket as their married counterparts.

"The service has realized that a man gets paid for what he does, not just for being married," said a bachelor officer.

OTTAWA (CP)—The big pay differential between armed forces pilots and other officer aircrew, in effect only since February, has all but been wiped out in the pay increases announced Thursday.

Under pay scales effective Oct. 1, 1966, maximum annual pay for an RCAF flight lieutenant is increased by 6.8 per cent over two years to $13,944.

But the maximum pay for a flight lieutenant navigator or radio officer is raised by 22.4 per cent during the same period to $13,236.

WENT UP

To stem the exodus of pilots from the armed forces, especially the RCAF, the defence department last Feb. 1 increased pilot pay for a flight lieutenant by 30.5 per cent to a maximum of $13,056 a year. Pay for navigators and radio officers of the same rank continued at $9,996 a year.

The pay differential thus has been reduced to $708 a year from $3,060 a year.

Reception Study

UCLUELET — An official of the department of transport is expected to arrive here Oct. 11 to investigate TV reception.

Comparative Pay by Rank

Most Carpenters Working

The president of the carpenters' union in Victoria said Wednesday night that 90 per cent of the men are back at work after the construction industry's 51-day strike-lockout.

Resident 54 Years Dies at 83

Funeral services will be held Saturday for a long-time resident of Victoria who died Tuesday, James Hewat Blake 83, of 643 Pinewood.

Mr. Blake was a native of Scotland, and a resident of Victoria for 54 years. Mechanical superintendent of the B.C. Forest Service for 28 years, Mr. Blake was a member of the B.C. Professional Engineers and the Engineering Institute of Canada.

IN MUNITIONS
During the First World War, Mr. Blake served in munitions at the Victoria Machinery Depot. He was a member of Peguanga Lodge No. 414, AF and AM, Kenora, Ont.

Mr. Blake leaves his wife, Georgina; three sons, Bryce, Gowan and Don, of Port Alberni; three daughters, Mrs. James (Jean) Mackenzie, Mrs. Guilford (Marie) Askey, of Victoria, and Mrs. Victor (Norma) Stevens, Port Alberni; one sister, four brothers, 15 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, a stepson and three stepdaughters. Funeral will be held at McCall Bros. chapel at 3:45 with Rev. A. Calder officiating. Cremation will follow.

Bridge Results

Winners of the monthly master point game of the Masters Bridge Club held Sunday were: North and South — J. Don Dupont and Harry Rolfe; 2. Laura Tingley and Freda Small; 3. Joan Smith and Cam Wallace; 4. Ethel Glenworth and John Hamilton; East and West — 1. Anne and Eddie Dyer; 2. Lenora Duncan and Lillian Goodwin; 3. Joan Strunk and Tony Marsh; 4. Judy Dixon and Fraser McGill.

"Everything's normal," said John Schilli, whose union had a busy time filling contractors' orders for men this week.

The dispute between contractors and carpenters, which tied up several major building projects here, ended last Friday when the employers accepted terms proposed by government mediator W. E. Philpott.

Among the projects on which work halted were a new kiln at Bamerton, Royal Athletic Park, the new Woolworth building downtown, the social sciences building at the University of Victoria, and several schools, although arrangements were made to re-start work in those cases.

The Victoria local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, which has approximately 700 members, gave unanimous approval to a memorandum of understanding that is in addition to the new contract they sanctioned earlier.

The memorandum clarifies the language of some of the contract's clauses and contains an outline of a liaison committee that will hold meetings with contractors to settle mutual problems.

Help from Clubs?

City Invites Interest
In Grey Cup Float

Because of the cost ($3,000) the city will not send a float to the Grey Cup parade in Vancouver this year. However, if the service clubs will do it, city council will be delighted.

The issue was dead, a request from the Junior Chamber of Commerce having been refused in committee, until Thursday's council meeting when it was revived by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

"I have been thinking about this and I wonder if we did the right thing," he said.

"BIG, BIG DAY"

"This is our big, big day in Canada and it seems to me that the capital of B.C. should be represented in this parade, which is televised all across the country," the alderman added.

Perhaps the Victoria Chamber of Commerce would be interested in helping the city out. Perhaps other community organizations would be interested, he said.

By the terms of Ald. Edgelow's motion, Victoria clubs will be approached.

GIVE TO STEELERS

"I think it would be a lot better, if we have this kind of money to spend, to give it to the Steelers," muttered Ald. Clyde Savage.

"The Steelers? Who are they?" said Ald. Edgelow.

"What about the Lions? They could use some help," commented Ald. Michael Griffin.

Mayor Toome will be attending the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Montreal next July. It was suggested that he take one or two aldermen with him.

"I think the city gains stature if there is someone along to support the mayor," said Ald. Griffin.

"I agree. One or two aldermen or senior staff members should go along," said Ald. Edgelow.

Perhaps it was a matter for informal discussion by city council before action was taken, the mayor suggested.

Council supported its Advisory Planning Commission in a recommendation that an application to rezone a lot on the Fairfield Farm estate be refused. The application asked that the category be changed from single-family to multiple-dwelling so that an apartment building could be erected.

The commission felt that such a building would be unsuitable for the area and that, in addition, it would constitute spot zoning.

Appointment of Rev. J. L. W. McLean as a Victoria representative on the newly-constituted Greater Victoria Library Board was ratified by city council.

Acting mayor for October will be Ald. Cecil Parrott.

Wrestler
Outlives
Alligator

TORONTO (CP) — The advertising for car dealer Don Howson said the wrestler in his showroom window could wrestle the seven-foot alligator "three times a day — if he lives."

The wrestler, Bill Berube of Sarnia, lived all right — but the alligator died of pneumonia.

Driver Gets Blame

Partial blame for the death Sept. 18 of a 68-year-old pedestrian was laid on the shoulders of the driver of the car involved, Gary Anderson, HMCS Mackenzie.

***

An inquest jury Wednesday night heard details of the traffic mishap at Blanshard and Fisgard when Mrs. Nancie Vicks, 1638 Quadra, was knocked down. She died two days later in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The jury blamed Mr. Anderson for driving at an excessive rate of speed in view of the wet weather, volume of traffic at the accident scene and amount of street lighting.

Evidence indicated his car was travelling at between 30 and 35 miles an hour in the 30 mile-an-hour zone.

Jury also laid blame on the driver for blurred vision owing to a smeared windshield.

Plane Hits
Concourse

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A huge Pacific Air Lines jet, taxiing to unload at San Francisco International Airport, crashed into a concourse. No one was hurt. The plane carried 130 passengers.

George Galvin, air lines executive, said that brake failure was a possible cause of the accident.

Trade History in Making

Canada N-Plant for Reds

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Winters announced Thursday that Canada may sell a nuclear power plant to Yugoslavia.

If the deal is closed — and he felt it would be — the 300-megawatt plant will be the first sold by a western nation to an Iron Curtain country.

Mr. Winters made the announcement at a news conference at which he reviewed a recent tour he made of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Under the new, more flexible economic systems, Canadian businessmen will be able to deal directly with their counterparts in eastern Europe rather than through the "socialist" governments he said.

Hungary in particular, he said, is anxious to engage in joint endeavors with Canada. He mentioned the possibility of shared cost, and shared profit programs in tourism and chemicals.

Mr. Winters also announced that he had signed two new wheat agreements and secured agreement for a third.

Poland signed a three-year agreement to buy at least 900,000 tons and maybe 1,200,000 tons; Czechoslovakia agreed to buy 1,200,000 tons over the next five years and Bulgaria will likely buy 100,000 tons each year for five years, he said.

Inez Brings Floods

Death Toll Climbs In Haiti

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Killer hurricane Inez struck the Dominican Republic and neighboring Haiti with roof-lifting force Thursday and reports from the Haitian coastal town of Jacmel said there were many deaths from a flood tide whipped up by the storm.

Negroes Keep Peace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Young Negro volunteers, wearing armbands provided by police, took over peace patrol duties Thursday night in residential areas of San Francisco's riot-shaken Hunters Point district.

Police, by mutual agreement, confined their augmented patrols to be district's main commercial street.

National guard troops, who pulled out of Hunters Point during the afternoon, were standing by.

Mayor Shelley sent a plea to President Johnson for federal funds to attack the critical unemployment situation in the Negro areas.

Johnson responded by ordering White House assistant Joseph A. Califano to work on Shelley's request with Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Sargent Shriver, director of the office of economic opportunity.

Thousands were reported homeless in Haiti as the hurricane tore roofs of buildings in Port au Prince, the capital.

The hurricane centre in Miami, Fla., said there is only a slight chance that the storm will reach the U.S. mainland.

TOLL REVISED

In the Dominican Republic, authorities reported a death toll of six, revising an earlier total of nine. A spokesman for the armed forces ministry said the report of a drowning of three persons in Barahona turned out to be erroneous. This brought the confirmed death toll from Inez to 29 before it struck Haiti.

As the storm moved westward to Haiti, torrential rains and winds up to 75 miles an hour were reported to have hit Port au Prince. The town of Jacmel, where the flood tide was reported, is 24 miles southwest of the capital and in 1950 had a population of 8,500.

HOMES UNROOFED

A large number of ramshackle homes were reported unroofed or destroyed in Haiti. There was no word from the southern Haitian peninsula along which Inez sped westward, packing winds up to 150 miles an hour.

Twenty-three of the deaths were recorded Tuesday when Inez swept the French island of Guadeloupe. Inez also left 500

Anti-British Leaflets Showered on Philip

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Prince Philip was showered with anti-British leaflets Thursday after a shooting incident and a plane hijacking had marred his visit to Argentina.

The leaflets, calling for return of the disputed Falkland (Malvinas) Islands to Argentina, apparently were thrown by workers at a big electric plant Philip visited in the morning.

The leaflets called on the British to recognize Argentine sovereignty over the two tiny islands in the South Atlantic, where Argentine extremists landed a hijacked plane Wednesday in a gesture of support for the anti-British Falklands campaign. Philip picked up one of the leaflets and, after a quick look, threw it away.

Gang Boss Verrier

Meanwhile, the 18 young hijackers who holed up in Port Stanley, capital of the British-run Falklands in the South Atlantic, surrendered to local authorities Thursday night. Led by blonde Maria Christin Verrier, 27, the group seized a four-engine passenger plane with 48 aboard Wednesday and forced it to land on a racetrack at Port Stanley.

Unknown attackers fired a half-dozen pistol shots at the building of the British Embassy residence here Wednesday night while the husband of Queen Elizabeth was dressing for dinner. The shots hit the front of the building but caused no casualties or damage. The shots were fired from two speeding black cars.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The shooting was one of several incidents and demonstrations here triggered by the raid on the Falklands. A few hundred persons, mostly students, paraded in downtown streets and burned paper Union Jacks before police dispersed them Wednesday night. A dozen youngsters forced their way into the British Consulate at Rosario at gunpoint and ransacked the offices, destroying files and the Union Jack on a pole outside the building. Five young students were arrested at Rosario, Argentina's second largest city, 200 miles north of here.

Argentina's President Juan Carlos Onganía announced Thursday the hijackers will go on trial.

Pat Bay Widening Delayed

B.C.'s PURSE SNAPS SHUT

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Gradual widening of the Patricia Bay Highway from Swartz Bay to Victoria and construction of an interchange between the Trans-Canada Highway and Douglas Street will probably be delayed for at least a year, Highways Minister Gagliardi said Thursday.

There will be cutbacks in new road and bridge construction throughout B.C. and a further delay in completion of the partially built Provincial Museum, near the Legislative Building, as a result of an order by Premier Bennett for a trimming of expenditures in all government departments.

The premier said before his departure on a two-week European visit that, in addition to a ban on overtime in B.C., announced Wednesday, he instructed the government to live within its budget and curtail extra spending.

WHERE POSSIBLE

"Accordingly, there will be curtailed government spending, with balanced budgets and surpluses, and we are going to curtail government contracts whenever possible," he said.

Essential health service projects will be carried on, but public works projects will be delayed and no highway and bridge contracts will be given for an unspecified period of time, the premier explained.

OTTAWA AGREES

Mr. Bennett said Ottawa had agreed to extend its cost-sharing agreement for the provincial museum-archives complex, so the project will not have to be completed during next year's centenary of Canadian Confederation.

Decision to postpone Patricia Bay Highway widening and the nearby Trans-Canada Highway interchange brought sharp reactions from Mayor Toome and Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis.

OUR 'LIFELINE'

Mayor Toome said he did not believe this would be a fair cutback because the highway was the "lifeline to the capital city of British Columbia" and should be a beautiful four-lane highway and parkway into the city.

"This is a most disappointing state of affairs," he said, adding that high priority should be given to the project because the road is dangerous and carries heavy amount of traffic and improvements are "extremely necessary."

ESSENTIAL TO PLANNING

The reeve of Saanich said that while the government's present policy of holding the line could be appreciated, it was essential that the municipality be advised soon about what parcels of land the government would eventually need for road improvement.

Traffic demands on the highway are such that improve-

Dams Rushed Despite Hours Rule

B.C. Hydro and Power Authority will trim as much overtime as it can from its operations without jeopardizing the Columbia River Treaty and contracts which have already been let, Hydro co-chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said here Thursday.

He said, in the wake of an announcement by Premier Bennett, that overtime is to be eliminated in B.C. as an anti-inflationary measure, that Hydro will examine the Peace and Columbia projects to see what overtime reductions can be instituted now and in the future.

STILL MEET IT

"However, to the extent B.C. Hydro has existing agreements which involve overtime, we would have to live up to them," Dr. Keenleyside said.

"And we would, of course, not allow the new rule to prevent completion of the dams on the schedule set by the Columbia River Treaty," he said.

But Labor Minister Peterson, who is charged with carrying out the premier's no-overtime rule, thinks Hydro can still meet its power obligations without the use of overtime.

Mr. Peterson said the contracts which Hydro has awarded for construction of dams require that overtime must be paid for work done beyond regular hours, but that there is nothing which states Hydro must pay overtime wages.

NO EXCUSES

"The government is not particularly interested in excuses. We want a positive approach to this problem," the minister said.

"I am sure if this question is approached in a positive manner, Hydro can complete the dams on schedule without overtime," said Mr. Peterson.

BOTH SITES

Some officials said the ban on overtime could spell labor trouble at both projects.

Harry Croft, secretary of the tunnel and rock workers union, said the average worker goes to remote jobs because he is assured of overtime. "Unless

And Then There Was One

By HUBERT J. ERB

BERLIN (AP)—The men who led German youth for Hitler and kept the Nazi war machine running are to be set free tonight. (See Page 5).

With their 20-year sentences for war crimes completed, Baldur von Schirach, 59, and Albert Speer, 61, are to be released from Spandau prison at midnight.

When the steel door slams shut behind them the only prisoners remaining in the fortress-like prison will be Hitler's one-time deputy fuhrer, Rudolf Hess, 72, serving a life term.

The British foreign office is urging the Soviet Union to answer an American-British-French request to move Hess into a less-costly jail. Spandau costs about $100,000 a year to run. This cost is borne by the West German government as war reparations but the four Second World War victors share the cost of rotating monthly guards.

Seven German leaders escaped the death penalty at the Nuremberg war crimes trials in 1946 where 22 top Nazis were tried and 12 sentenced to death. Four of those imprisoned were released earlier for health reasons or after serving "their terms."

Von Schirach, who after serving as Hitler youth leader in the '30s was gauleiter (district leader) of Vienna during the war, was found guilty of complicity in the death of 50,000 Austrian Jews and of providing slave labor for the German war effort.

Speer, armaments minister, was found guilty of war crimes

Chinatown Destroyed

Weeds Hide Remains Of Nanaimo Disaster

NANAIMO — Six years ago today Nanaimo's Chinatown was destroyed by fire.

About 4:45 p.m. Sept. 30, 1960 fire broke out in the rear of an unoccupied house at 6 Pine Street, in the Old West-style Chinatown.

Within two hours 36 of the 43 homes on both sides of Pine Street were reduced to burning rubble. More than 250 Chinese were homeless.

Flames and smoke billowed high over Nanaimo and it was not long before an estimated 2,000 spectators had gathered to watch the city's most spectacular fire.

Firemen converged on the area from the surrounding district.

Immediately after the fire wreckage was put in motion to build a new Chinatown.

Homes Built

In 1962, the Cathay Senior Citizens Building Society completed construction of senior citizens homes on part of the original site of Chinatown. Contributions were received from Island residents, the provincial government and from many parts of the world.

On the corner of Pine St. and Hecate Ave. there are four buildings. Two comprise the Cathay Senior Citizens' Homes, another is the Chinese Masonic Temple, and the third the United Church of Canada, Chinese Mission.

The mission has been built with modern influence, but retains an oriental flavor, with its many-gabled roof that gives a pagoda style to it.

Many Changes

Many changes have taken place the last six years but many grim reminders of that terrifying night remain.

The main street of the old Chinatown now sprouts grass and weeds. Former utility poles look like blackened totem poles.

Blackened cherry trees stand silently overlooking Harewood. Burned out fire hydrants rear up from plots of grass and flowering weeds.

The Chinese are trying hard to smudge the memory of six years ago.

Indians Plan Battle

DUNCAN — The Cowichan people are not giving up their fight for 40 new houses.

Two hundred Indians attended a recent meeting and heard a brief rounded up by the grievance committee.

"It was one of the best meetings we have ever had in Cowichan," said Abraham Joe, chairman of the committee.

A copy of the brief will be sent to Duncan Indian agent, Ron Sampson, B.C. Indian Commissioner J. V. Boys and Minister of Northern Affairs Arthur Laing.

Mr. Boys will be invited to visit the Cowichan Indians and make a tour of the reservation Oct. 16.

Following the tour there will be a general meeting of the Cowichans with Mr. Boys.

A protest march is being scheduled for Dec. 5 if no immediate action is taken. The grievance committee will canvass for funds to charter buses for the marchers.

"I am hoping we will not have to march to Vancouver," said Mr. Joe. "If nothing happens in Vancouver we will march to Ottawa."

About 400 people from the Chemainus and Kuper Island bands have indicated they are supporting the Cowichan's demands.

Pollution Meetings Set

'Big Chance for Everyone'

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two public meetings have been called up-island to discuss pollution.

A mass meeting will be held in Port Alberni at 2 p.m. Sunday and a panel of experts will discuss pollution in Campbell River, Thursday, Oct. 6.

Campbell River Councillor Kenneth Forde, who has been circulating a petition throughout the Island demanding that Western Mines Ltd. be stopped from dumping mine tailings and sewage effluent into Buttle Lake, has been urging all to attend the meetings.

Speaking of the port Alberni meeting, he said: "This is a chance for all of Vancouver Island to get together on this pollution business to form a strong voice that will be heard in Victoria."

Mr. Forde reports his petition has received overwhelming support from throughout the Island.

PERMITS GRANTED

Western Mines received permits last week from the Pollution Control Board allowing the company to dump mine tailings and sewage effluent into Buttle

Lake, Campbell River's water source.

A special committee of the Campbell River Chamber of Commerce has been organized to study possible pollution of the water supply. The chamber is sponsoring the panel discussion Oct. 6.

FIGHT DECISION

The municipal council has provided $300 to help defray costs of the meeting and to back up its pledge to become totally involved in the fight to reverse the Pollution Control Board's decision.

"Taxpayers are being forced to spend a considerable amount of money to protect their rights — and that's wrong," said Coun. Wallace Baikie.

FORCED SPENDING

The Greater Campbell River Water Board, of which the municipality is a part, he said, is being compelled to spend thousands to combat the control board's decision.

Dr. Frank Schaumburg, senior research engineer with the B.C. Research Council, has completed field studies at Buttle Lake and is compiling a report on the possible effects of mine tailings and sewage effluent.

The district, Mr. Baikie said, is paying for the study.

ACTION STARTED

Greater Campbell River Water District Thursday started legal action in its dispute with Western Mines Ltd. over alleged pollution of Buttle Lake.

In a double writ filed at the Vancouver court house, the district asks the Supreme Court to quash the B.C. Pollution Control Board decision to let the company dump mine tailings into the lake.

They also asked for an injunction to prevent the company from further dumping into the lake.

The district also alleges it was denied the right to test the mining company's evidence and examine witnesses, and was not able to present its own technical evidence.

Duncan Man Satisfactory

LAKE COWICHAN — A Duncan man is in satisfactory condition at King's Daughters Hospital following an accident Wednesday night.

Play Must Go On

By MARIE CADORETTE

DUNCAN — The play must go on is a motto attributed to any drama club and especially the Duncan Theatre Guild.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith have been members of the small but hard-working club since its earliest days when the cast dressed in heavy overcoats to combat the cold during rehearsals.

They were held in the old Duncan elementary school and between acts members of the cast would scurry down to the basement to stoke the old wood furnace, and rush back up to be on stage in time for their cue.

Opening night found the audience wrapped in winter scarves, thick mittens and winter coats. The club had to overcome poor heating facilities and a faulty lighting system in those days.

"One year the wires were smoking and we had to fan them with records to keep the audience from knowing," said Mrs. Smith. "That was a year."

Another year the guild played in the old Somenos school and part of the props was a dead fish. Before making its final appearance before an audience the fish was washed in very cold water to help overcome the musty odor.

"We have had the usual problems," said Mr. Smith.

The show would be going rather well while backstage the work crew was madly rushing about plugging lights here and there. Circuits would be breaking left and right.

The Smiths founded the Duncan Theatre Guild 16 years ago. They have described their years of theatre experience as "blood, sweat, tears and laughter."

They said through drama they have met many, many people and a little of each person has rubbed off on them.

"You have to give a little of yourself on stage and off," they said. "You are only as good as the people you are working with."

People from all walks of life come together because of one common bond — the love of acting.

"We are all crazy," said Mr. Smith.

This year the drama club will present Bus Stop written by William Bing.

The drama club still has its difficulties. Because of lack of facilities it will not present its play in December as planned.

Mrs. Smith also said the club lacked male members and adequate storage space for costumes and props.

Nanaimo PTA Chief Battles for Safety

NANAIMO — Safety is a big thing in School District No. 68. Bob Golob, head of the school district PTA council, is given full support in his fight for re-education of the 20-mile-an-hour speed limit, covered ditches, developing footpaths and building fences around all elementary schools.

Mr. Golob took his stand at a PTA council meeting Thursday night. Some 20 schools are represented in this matter from Yellow Point to Lantzville.

BURSARIES

A little-known fact was brought out that there are five bursaries offered through the PTA group ranging from $25 to $100 for English, music, vocational training and education assistance.

SCHOOL PLAYS

Plans are started to raise money for the bursaries for the coming year.

Play production for children in the area was discussed. Local drama groups were at first considered and Holiday and Bastion theatres are being investigated for this purpose.

Shows Back This Year

By MARY MOORE

UNION BAY — Child's Own Theatre is coming to Union Bay again this fall and winter, as another service of Union Bay Community Club.

Mrs. Anna Gordon will be director and preparations are being made to have the Community Hall dining room ready for the first showing, Oct. 5.

The selling of season tickets beforehand ensures a regular membership and good attendance at every show, which will run every second Saturday afternoon through the fall, winter and spring.

Last year Child's Own Theatre came here as an experiment. More than 60 season tickets were sold, and interest continued through every show.

It is easy for adults to miss the fact that there are no afternoon shows for children in the district as there were for them when they were children.

The selection of cent candies was always a time of serious deliberation as to quality and quantity.

One thing was sure: the choice always included a hard teddy, because, kept to the last and worked on gently, it could be stretched out for the full two hours!

INSTALLMENTS

Memories of the shows themselves make us realize they were as unjuvenile as they could possibly be!

"The Perils of Pauline" is a good example, where the instalment ended each week with the heroine tied to the railway track with a train roaring toward her, or shut up in a room with the walls slowly closing in. Somehow we always knew she would be rescued, but it was a long time till next week.

Television may have taken care of entertainment in this field, as our children can select and watch their own programs.

However, we are glad that there is a Child's Own Theatre to which our children can go, and see films such as we saw here last year.

Once again, the library will be co-operating by showing books that go along with the picture, and which may be borrowed.

Eagle Golfer Too Ill

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tom Weiskopf pulled off some of the most spectacular shots ever seen on the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club course then announced he is pulling out of the Canadian open golf championship "because my health is more important than the $20,000 first prize."

"I've got an infection in my stomach, I've lost 20 pounds in the last three weeks, I'm taking eight pills plus two tranquilizers a day and I'm getting married in October," said the 23-year-old Bedford, Ohio, professional, who blasted a 175-yard shot out of the woods for an eagle, his second in four holes.

Tough Task

"I'm just a bundle of nerves, I just don't feel like playing golf. It's difficult to explain to someone who isn't out there every day," said the professional of two years.

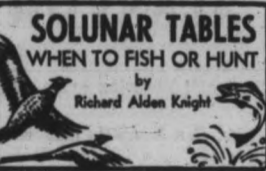

Weiskopf, who has competed in 27 tournaments this year with total earnings exceeding $38,000, said he will be back on the pro tour "after I go back and see my parents and friends and have a few good meals."

He scored a sizzling four-under-par 32 on the front nine but sagged badly coming home with a four-over 39. His par 71 left him only three strokes behind leader Hugh Royer.

All Nerves

"I'm not quitting because of anything that happened today," said Weiskopf in reference to a one-over-par on the 17th and two-over on the 18th.

"I had a good score and I've had a wonderful year but I'm just a bundle of nerves, I made plane reservations this morning to leave Vancouver Friday before I even came out here that's how sure I was, I was even going to miss the cut."

First-Day Surprises

'Nobody' Leads Canadian Open

VANCOUVER (CP) — Americans Hugh Royer and Tom Weiskopf, two also rans in the field of professional golf, pulled off the surprises at the Canadian open golf tournament Thursday — Royer by gaining the first-day lead and Weiskopf by abruptly quitting the tournament.

"I'm pulling out, I'm sick," Weiskopf of Bedford, Ohio, told a crowded press room a few hours after he pulled off some of the finest golf shots ever seen on the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club course. (See adjoining story.)

NEVER BIG WINNER

Royer, a 30-year-old veteran of six years in the pro ranks but never a big money winner, blazed around the wet 6,907-yard course with a three-under-par 69, one stroke better than Rex Baxter Jr., of Houston, Tex.

Billy Casper of Peacock Gap, Calif., and Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, the tournament favorites, had disappointing days.

ASSORTMENT THIRD

Jammed in a five-way tie for third spot with 70s were an assortment of American pros, including Horner Blane of Houston, Dick Crawford of Eldorado, Ark., Tom Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., Randy Glover of Florence, S.C., and Don Masengale of Jacksonville, Fla.

Weiskopf was one of seven golfers tied for eighth with par 71s. Among them was Canadian favorite George Knudson of Toronto who led three amateur partners to victory in Wednesday's Pro-Am contest and finished third among the pros with an individual score of 69.

JOHNSTON LEADS

John Johnston of Vancouver shot a one-over 72 to lead the 10 amateur entries. Two strokes behind was another Vancouver entry — Bert Ticehurst. Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., and John Russell of Vancouver shared third place with 75s.

Bill Martindale of Dallas and Jim Ferree of Savannah, Ga., who tied for the lead ahead of Knudson in the Pro-Am, finished back in the pack, Ferree with a 73 and Martindale with 76.

Al Balding, a Toronto pro, was three strokes off par and Stan Leonard of Vancouver, seven strokes back.

Defending champion Gene Little of Las Vegas, seventh among the PGA money winners with $61,000, heard 74.

DIDN'T FINISH

A field of 143 started Thursday, but was cut to 140 with the withdrawal of Weiskopf and pro Damien Gauthier of Montreal and M. C. Fitts of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Gauthier shot a 10-over-par 45 on his first nine and didn't turn in a card. Fitts had 40 on his first nine and also didn't hand in a card.

Royer said he missed a birdie on the 16th when the ball missed the cup and "that was the only time I might have cut down my score."

He said he took only 25 putts using a "sort of corroded putter that might break any day." It was given to him by a friend in 1960 when he turned pro.

LOW WINNINGS

Royer's best tournament this year was 13th place finish in the Cleveland Open. His winnings this year barely exceed $3,400.

The second-place Baxter said he was "pleasantly surprised" with the good condition of the greens, but he agreed with Casper the pins on a couple were placed in soft spots.

The first round start of the 72-hole tournament was a double-tea affair. Half of the original 143 field, including 31 Canadians, started on hole one and the other half on the 10th. They will alternate tees for today's second round, starting at 8 a.m. The 140-golfer field will be cut to 70 plus after the first 36 holes which will be completed today.

The other Canadian professionals were: Bill Wakeham of Victoria with a 74; Alvie Thompson, Toronto; Frank Fowler, Calgary and Jack Bissegger, Montreal, all 75; Joe Jeroski, Vancouver, 76; Adrien Bigras, Rosemere, Que., 77; Neil Green, Calgary, and Dick Munn, Vancouver, both 78; Len Collett, Vancouver; Frank Whitley, Kitchener; Fin Sorensen, Edmonton; and Bob Kidd, Port Moody, all 79; Al Nelson, New Westminster, B.C., 80; Mel White, Vancouver; and Bill Mawhinney, Toronto, both 81.

missed the Western Conference playoffs last year and have won only two of 10 games this season, has another year to go on his second three-year contract.

He joined the coaching staff eight years ago and has been head coach since 1961.

The resignation of offensive coach Frank Johnston, who joined the B.C. club in 1962, was announced by Skrien Wednesday night.

The official reason was ill health. Vancouver Sun football writer Jim Taylor, however, said Johnston was fired "because he wanted to fight a system he felt was protecting the little group of non-producing prima-donnas who have greased the skids for the Lions."

Johnston said he had resigned, but would not elaborate.

"The board of directors of the B.C. Lions met in a two-hour meeting this morning and all matters involving the team's present situation and standings were thoroughly discussed."

Walters Pauleto Russell claims she was bitten on the posterior last Labor Day while working in a Vancouver hotel.

A writ filed by her lawyer claimed damages for deliberate and malicious actions which resulted in injury to her right dorsal region.

Allan McEachern, counsel for Reschke, said the writ is defective and the case should not be permitted to proceed. He said the waitress could issue a new writ.

Charles Drozdzik, lawyer for Miss Russell, indicated he would file a statement of claim.

Spike Marks Hurt

Watch the Weather, Nicklaus and Casper

By HARRY YOUNG

VANCOUVER (CP) — Don't count Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper and the like out of the Canadian Open!

Nicklaus may be five strokes behind leader Hugh Royer after shooting a 73 on opening day Thursday — and Casper may be even worse off with a 76.

But rain early this week made the course very soft during the first day and spike marks were proving a tremendous problem on the greens. Nicklaus and Casper were among the last to finish and their putts were running into just such marks.

Thursday's weather dried the course out a bit. Today, Nicklaus and Casper will be among the earliest to tee off — and there won't be many spike marks, around, if any.

The rough Vancouver winds also took their toll. In fact, the weather will probably be the first factor in determination of the eventual winner.

Victoria's Bill Wakeham, the only Vancouver Island contender, did well Thursday with a 37-37-74 to stand high among the Canadian pros. Former Victorian Dick Munn of Vancouver had 39-39-73.

Most of the U.S. pros said the course is just as long and as difficult as the Firestone at Akron, Ohio, one of the toughest in the business.

Thanks to the magnificent Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers need only to win today to clinch a tie for the National League pennant — and can even take it all.

In St. Louis Thursday night, Koufax stopped the Cardinals 2-1 on four hits and became the first pitcher in major league history to reach the 300 strike-out level in three different seasons.

That put the Dodgers two games ahead of Pittsburgh and 3 1/2 up on San Francisco. Today, they start Claude Osteen, 17-13, against the Phillies' Chris Short, 18-10, as they move to Philadelphia for three final games.

San Francisco opens a three-game series in Pittsburgh with Juan Marichal, 24-5, against Woody Fryman, 12-9. The Giants also will play in Cincinnati Monday if the pennant is still at stake.

San Francisco can tie only if the Giants win everything and the Dodgers lose everything. And if the Pirates lose and Los Angeles wins today, it's all over. In fact, only a Dodger defeat will keep things alive.

MANY GOOSE EGGS

One other thing — should the Dodgers enter the series, they will break an undistinguished record. They've been shut out 17 times and the previous mark was 15 for New York Giants in 1913 and the Phillies in 1915.

Koufax, now 26-9, went into the game with 294 strikeouts. He reached and passed the 300 level when he struck out the side in the fourth inning. Koufax struck out 306 batters in 1963 and fanned 283 last season.

JOHNSON, WADDELL

Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators and Edo Vannu of the Philadelphia Athletics previously were tied with Koufax for the record with two 30-strikeout seasons each.

Koufax, who also struck out the side in the sixth inning, wound up with 13 strikeouts, marking the 14th time this season and the 96th time in his career that he has struck out 10 or more batters in a game.

The only run-off the arthritic left-hander came in the seventh, when the Cards' Curt Flood homered over the left field wall.

Singles by Orlando Cepeda in the second inning and Tim McCarver in the fifth, and Flood's two-out double in the ninth were the only other hits off Koufax.

The Dodgers scored their first run in the second inning on three singles. In the fifth, John Roseboro singled to short left centre and eventually scored from third on Willie Davis' line single to right.

Pro Football Men Still Viewing Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle and several professional club owners will visit Seattle within three weeks, an assistant to Rozelle said Wednesday.

Ball Missing For Villa Game

Victoria's O'Keefe will be without the services of forward Russ Ball when they play host to Burnaby Villa in Macdonald Park at 2 p.m. Sunday. Ball, who injured his right knee three weeks ago, is having trouble recuperating. For two years, he suffered ligament trouble in his left knee and then had it corrected by an operation.

Peter Brett, an impressive rookie, may be out also with a knee injury he received in last week's game against Columbus, unless the knee loosens. The Juniors under Doug Day will make their debut in Inter City Junior Soccer League Sunday in New Westminster.

VIEWSON SPORT

By Red Smith

It has been a sad time. A week ago, George Skakel died in that plane crash in Idaho. And the other day, a great and lovely lady from America, Ga., Mrs. Grantland Rice, was buried.

Granny Rice went away in July of 1954 and his Kate waited patiently for 12 years to rejoin him. She was dreadfully lonely and terribly strong and she did not complain. But if it was hard for her, one wonders what the separation must have been for Granny, who needed her so.

He needed her even to tune in the ball game or race results on the radio. "Kit," he would call pleadingly through the house, snatching his hand away from the snarling monster as though it had bitten him. "Kit, come fix this thing for me, will you, honey?"

Now the waiting is over for both. In this world it was usually Miss Kitty who waited for Granny. She enjoyed telling of the time she waited all night because on his rounds Granny had encountered his old West Point football pals, Gen. Rosie O'Donnell and Gen. Blondie Saunders.

Boon Companions

They had things to talk about and kept finding places where talk flowed freely. Naturally, Kate was worried until daylight brought the uncertain scratching of his key in the lock.

"It's all right, honey," her spouse assured her. "I was just out with Rosie and Blondie."

George Skakel, who died with four hunting companions in an Idaho canyon, was a sportsman in the truest sense, who fought, rode, played polo and tennis, fished and hunted for the pure joy of it.

Somebody, distinguishing amateurs from professionals, has said an amateur is a man who can afford to lose. As president of Great Lakes Carbon, George could afford anything except losing. That this amateur did not do it there was an honest way to avoid it. He was a big, laughing guy who would try anything twice. Tennis was his first love, but one night he busted an ankle entertaining the folks in the Lido in Paris.

Name of the Game

He'd been doing a circus trick he learned in boyhood, balancing on a ceiling-high tower of swaying tables and chairs.

Unable to play tennis with his leg in a cast, he turned to polo because that way he could get his exercise sitting down.

The game hooked him. Head of the Metropolitan Polo Association, he was the moving force behind the Sunday matches up in Westchester County, and even after the Seventh Regiment Armory was torn down he continued the fight to save indoor polo for New York winters.

To him fighting was the name of the game, any game. He joined a club of horsemen, who annually take a week's ride in the California mountains, moving from camp to camp. Hearing him tell, in his small, deceptively mild voice, of battles royal with members who ganged up to haze him on his first ride was like reading the script for that fight of John Wayne's in The Quiet Man. Big George was all man, all sportsman, all battler, and we could not afford to lose him.

Bauer, Hitchcock Back

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer, who directed Baltimore Orioles to their first American League pennant this season, was given a new two-year contract Thursday on the eve of the World Series.

Salary terms were not disclosed, but estimates placed Bauer's new contract at close to $50,000 a year, an increase of $10,000 to $12,000.

THIRD YEAR

The 44-year-old Bauer, a former New York Yankees outfielder, is completing his third year as the Orioles' manager. He also was a coach with Baltimore in 1963 before replacing Billy Hitchcock as manager.

After the Orioles finished third in 1964, two games behind the pennant-winning Yankees, Bauer was named American League Manager of the Year. Baltimore also finished third last year, eight games behind Minnesota Twins.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Hitchcock, who led Atlanta Braves on a late-season surge after he was hired as manager Aug. 9, was rehired Thursday for the 1967 season.

The Braves climbed from seventh place and 12 games back into fifth under Hitchcock. The Braves overtook Atlanta after he took over the team won 19 of 21 games.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP) — Dick Williams, appointed manager to replace Bobby Bragan as manager, club have won 31 of 48 games since Hitchcock was moved up from Boston Red Sox of the American League, Wednesday.

Ice Rink Nears Completion

COURTENAY — Nine miles of plastic pipe has been placed in the floor at Glacier Gardens ice rink at CFB Comox.

The pipe will be part of the cooling system used in the floor for ice. A complete new concrete floor will be laid before skating and hockey begins this fall. It is expected the concrete floor will be completed by the end of September.

The arena is tentatively planned to open early in November and remain in operation until April.

SKATING THIS YEAR

It is expected summer skating and roller skating will be possible this year.

The arena also has some other new features including a new roof, dressing rooms and snack bar.

Interior painting and general maintenance is being completed prior to the opening date.

Registration for minor hockey and figure skating groups has started.

Six teams have been allocated ice time. Thursday evenings for three games and time on Sunday evening for one game. This will be the Comox Valley Commercial Hockey League games.

The Intersection league will be in operation again and will play Mondays and Wednesdays. Public skating times are Saturday, 1:30 to 4 p.m.; Sunday, 12:30 to 4 p.m.; and Tuesdays, 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Fisher Fined $1,000

ALBERT BAY (CP) — George Iverson of Coquiltam was fined $1,000 in magistrate's court after he had his net seized on a charge of illegal fishing.

He was found at Port Neville, B.C., Sept. 24 with a load of coho salmon aboard his ship 10 days after the official closure of coho net fishing.

The fisheries department seized 246 coho and sold them for $810, with the money going to the Crown.

New Crew Burns House

PORT ALBERNI — Port Alberni's eight-man paid fire department is now in full operation, with round-the-clock coverage as of last weekend.

Fire Chief Maurice Smith termed the fire team "a big step forward that should enable us to give still better and faster service in the future, with a possible side benefit, a reduction in fire insurance rates."

The round-the-clock service will enable the department to better maintain its equipment, receive its own fire and inhalator calls and enable it to have trained pump operators and drivers on duty.

LOAD RELIEVED

This, the chief said, would take part of the load and responsibility from the shoulders of the volunteer firemen.

Fire Chief Smith also paid tribute to the taxi company dispatchers who, he said, had done "yeoman service" over the years in handling emergency fire and inhalator phone calls.

Three members of the volunteer fire dept. were accepted as permanent staff members, plus five out-of-town applicants selected from the more than 50 applications received.

They are Dave Milne, seven years experience; Bill Ohs, five years; Ron Rediac, four years; Rusty Phillips, eight years; Ernie Russell, 10 years; Lloyd Hanberg, nine years; Alan Woodhouse, six years; and Les Hawker, nine years.

The newcomers, all married but one, have found accommodation, and are thoroughly enjoying their new environment.

Two of them went fishing Monday, and it was hard to tell who was most surprised by their catch, the fishermen, or the critter they caught.

BIG CATCH

Long-time Prairie resident Ernie Russell and Lloyd Hanberg returned to the firehall to show off their catch, "an octopus with arms as long as firehoses," to hear the firemen tell it.

Despite varying stories on its size, everyone agreed it "was a whole pallid of octopus," which ended up in the kitchen of an Oriental family who, the fishermen agreed, would enjoy it more.

FIRST JOB

One of the first official acts of the new crew was the demolition of a big old house at the corner of 10th and Bute St., site of the soon-to-be-built firehall. The demolition was not too hard a task, however.

They simply burned it down!

Ready in Five Months

Ganges Wharf Work Let

GANGES — Pacific Pile-driving Company Limited of Victoria has been awarded a $58,805 contract for wharf reconstruction here, Public Works Minister George J. McRath has announced.

The successful tender was the lowest of two opened on Sept. 14. The high bid was $60,151.

Work will consist of reconstructing approximately 10,800 square feet of the existing 15,900 square feet of wharf. Ganges is on Saltspring Island in the Strait of Georgia.

Reconstruction of this portion of the wharf will permit local businesses to continue using this wharf for the transfer of goods. Plans and specifications were prepared by the district engineer in Vancouver for the federal department of public works.

Work is to be completed in five months.

Death Toll Climbs In Haiti

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Killer hurricane Inez struck the Dominican Republic and neighboring Haiti with roof-lifting force Thursday and reports from the Haitian coastal town of Jacmel said there were many deaths from a flood tide whipped up by the storm.

Negroes Keep Peace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Young Negro volunteers, wearing armbands provided by police, took over peace patrol duties Thursday night in residential areas of San Francisco's riot-shaken Hunters Point district.

Police, by mutual agreement, confined their augmented patrols to be district's main commercial street. National guard troops, who pulled out of Hunters Point during the afternoon, were standing by.

Mayor Shelley sent a plea to President Johnson for federal funds to attack the critical unemployment situation in the Negro areas.

Johnson responded by ordering White House assistant Joseph A. Califano to work on Shelley's request with Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Senator Shriver, director of the office of economic opportunity.

Thousands were reported homeless in Haiti as the hurricane tore roofs of buildings in Port au Prince, the capital.

The hurricane centre in Miami, Fla., said there is only a slight chance that the storm will reach the U.S. mainland.

TOLL REVISED

In the Dominican Republic, authorities reported a death toll of six, revising an earlier total of nine. A spokesman for the armed forces ministry said the report of a drowning of three persons in Barahona turned out to be erroneous. This brought the confirmed death toll from Inez to 29 before it struck Haiti.

As the storm moved westward to Haiti, torrential rains and winds up to 75 miles an hour were reported to have hit Port au Prince. The town of Jacmel, where the flood tide was reported, is 24 miles southwest of the capital and in 1950 had a population of 8,500.

HOUSES UNROOFED

A large number of ramshackle homes were reported unroofed or destroyed in Haiti. There was no word from the southern Haitian peninsula along which Inez sped westward, packing winds up to 150 miles an hour.

Twenty-three of the deaths were recorded Tuesday when Inez swept the French island of Guadeloupe. Inez also left 500

Anti-British Leaflets Showered on Philip

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Prince Philip was showered with anti-British leaflets Thursday after a shooting incident and a plane hijacking had marred his visit to Argentina.

The leaflets, calling for return of the disputed Falkland (Malvinas) Islands to Argentina, apparently were thrown by workers at a big electric plant Philip visited in the morning.

The leaflets called on the British to recognize Argentine sovereignty over the two tiny islands in the South Atlantic, where Argentine extremists landed a hijacked plane Wednesday in a gesture of support for the anti-British Falklands campaign. Philip picked up one of the leaflets and, after a quick look, threw it away.

Gang boss Verrier

Meanwhile, the 18 young hijackers who holed up in Port Stanley, capital of the British-run Falklands in the South Atlantic, surrendered to local authorities Thursday night. Led by blonde Maria Christina Verrier, 27, the group seized a four-engine passenger plane with 48 aboard Wednesday and forced it to land on a racetrack at Port Stanley.

Unknown attackers fired a half-dozen pistol shots at the building of the British Embassy residence here Wednesday night while the husband of Queen Elizabeth was dressing for dinner. The shots hit the front of the building but caused no casualties or damage. The shots were fired from two speeding black cars.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The shooting was one of several incidents and demonstrations here triggered by the raid on the Falklands. A few hundred persons, mostly students, paraded in downtown streets and burned paper Union Jacks before police dispersed them Wednesday night. A dozen youngsters forced their way into the British Consulate at Rosario and gunpoint and ransacked the offices, destroying files and the Union Jack on a pole outside the building. Five young students were arrested at Rosario, Argentina's second largest city, 200 miles north of here.

Argentine President Juan Carlos Onganía announced Thursday the hijackers will go on trial.

The accident killed his wife Francisca, 39. The 40 farm workers were hospitalized, police said.

About two hours after the first accident, a bus carrying 40 farm workers plunged 30 feet down an embankment about 30 miles south of Blythe. Police said a front tire blew out, causing the driver, Jose de la Cruz, 37, of Mexicali, to lose control.

B.C. CUTS EXPENSES

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Gradual widening of the Patricia Bay Highway from Swartz Bay to Victoria and construction of an interchange between the Trans-Canada Highway and Douglas Street will probably be delayed for at least a year, Highways Minister Gagliardi said Thursday.

There will be cutbacks in new road and bridge construction throughout B.C. and a further delay in completion of the partially built Provincial Museum near the Legislative Building, as a result of an order by Premier Bennett for a trimming of expenditures in all government departments.

The premier said before his departure on a two-week European visit that, in addition to a ban on overtime in B.C., announced Wednesday, he instructed the government to live within its budget and curtail extra spending.

WHERE POSSIBLE

"Accordingly, there will be curtailed government spending, with balanced budgets and surpluses, and we are going to curtail government contracts whenever possible," he said.

Essential health service projects will be carried on, but public works projects will be delayed and no highway and bridge contracts will be given for an unspecified period of time, the premier explained.

OTTAWA AGREES

Mr. Bennett said Ottawa had agreed to extend its cost-sharing agreement for the provincial museum-archives complex, so the project will not have to be completed during next year's centenary of Canadian Confederation.

Decision to postpone Patricia Bay Highway widening and the nearby Trans-Canada Highway interchange brought sharp reactions from Mayor Toome and Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis.

OUR 'LIFELINE'

Mayor Toome said he did not believe this would be a fair cutback because the highway was the "lifeline to the capital city of British Columbia" and should be a beautiful four-lane highway and parkway into the city.

"This is a most disappointing state of affairs," he said, adding that high priority should be given to the project because the road is dangerous and carries heavy amount of traffic and improvements are "extremely necessary."

ESSENTIAL TO PLANNING

The reeve of Saanich said that while the government's present policy of holding the line could be appreciated, it was essential that the municipality be advised soon about what parcels of land on the Falklands. A few hundred persons, mostly students, paraded in downtown streets and burned paper Union Jacks before police dispersed them Wednesday night. A dozen youngsters forced their way into the British Consulate at Rosario and gunpoint and ransacked the offices, destroying files and the Union Jack on a pole outside the building. ## Dams Rushed Despite Hours Rule

B.C. Hydro and Power Authority will trim as much overtime as it can from its operations without jeopardizing the Columbia River Treaty and contracts which have already been let, Hydro co-chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said here Thursday.

He said, in the wake of an announcement by Premier Bennett, that overtime is to be eliminated in B.C. as an anti-inflationary measure, that Hydro will examine the Peace and Columbia projects to see what overtime reductions can be instituted now and in the future.

STILL MEET IT

"However, to the extent B.C. Hydro has existing agreements which involve overtime, we would have to live up to them," Dr. Keenleyside said.

"And we would, of course, not allow the new rule to prevent completion of the dams on the schedule set by the Columbia River Treaty," he said.

But Labor Minister Peterson, who is charged with carrying out the premier's no-overtime rule, thinks Hydro can still meet its power obligations without the use of overtime.

Mr. Peterson said the contracts which Hydro has awarded for construction of dams require that overtime must be paid for work done beyond regular hours, but that there is nothing which states Hydro must pay overtime wages.

NO EXCUSES

"The government is not particularly interested in excuses. We want a positive approach to this problem," the minister said.

"I am sure if this question is approached in a positive manner, Hydro can complete the dams on schedule without overtime," said Mr. Peterson.

BOTH SITES

Some officials said the ban on overtime could spell labor trouble at both projects.

Harry Croft, secretary of the tunnel and rock workers union, said the average worker goes to remote jobs because he is assured of overtime. "Unless

Trucks Cut Tragic Swath

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP)—Six persons were killed and 52 were injured in two accidents near here Thursday.

In the first, five persons among a family of 17 migrating from Washington to Texas were killed when their camper was hit by a 12-ton trailer truck four miles west of here.

The 17 occupants and their luggage were strewn on the highway when a second trailer truck plowed through the scene without stopping, police said. Florentino Rodriguez, 42, of Wapato, Wash., and his 16 passengers had taken a wrong turn after stopping for gas.

Rodriguez' four children, Celia, 15, Hermina, 12, Lupe, 9, and Renie, 5, were killed along with his nephew Francisco Hernandez, 18.

Ten of the 12 injured menbers of the family were in hospital with multiple injuries. Jerome King, 48, of Phoenix, Ariz., driver of the first truck, was arrested on suspicion of manslaughter, police said.

The driver of the second truck, who, police said, kept driving after smashing into the debris, was stopped at a roadblock 90 miles east of Blythe.

Trade History in Making

Canada N-Plant for Reds

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Winters announced Thursday that Canada may sell a nuclear power plant to Yugoslavia.

If the deal is closed — and he felt it would be — the 300-megawatt plant will be the first sold by a western nation to an Iron Curtain country.

Mr. Winters made the announcement at a news conference at which he reviewed a recent tour he made of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

He gave a glowing report of fundamental changes in the Iron Curtain economies which open up vast new trade opportunities for Canadian manufacturers. He said his department would follow up his visit with sponsored trade missions.

Under the new, more flexible economic systems, Canadian businessmen will be able to deal directly with their counterparts in eastern Europe rather than through the "socialist" governments he said.

Hungary in particular, he said, is anxious to engage in joint endeavors with Canada. He mentioned the possibility of shared cost, and shared profit programs in tourism and chemicals.

Mr. Winters also announced that he had signed two new wholesale agreements and secured agreement for a third.

Poland signed a three-year agreement to buy at least 900,000 tons and maybe 1,200,000 tons; Czechoslovakia agreed to buy 1,200,000 tons over the next five years and Bulgaria will likely buy 100,000 tons each year for five years, he said.

Rent Taking Big Bite Of New Service Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — A 13.8-per-cent pay increase for the 105,000-member armed forces spread over two years was announced Thursday by Defence Minister Hellyer. (See Page 28).

But men living in barracks will be charged $5 to $105 a month for room and board and rents for married quarters will be raised by as much as $15 a month. The rents now run about $80 to $125 a month.

Effective Saturday, pay will be increased by 9.8 per cent and effective Oct. 1, 1967, by another four per cent.

This will add $48,000,000 to the armed forces pay bill of $339,000,000 in the current fiscal year and $85,300,000 in the next fiscal year starting April 1, 1967.

Mr. Hellyer said he doesn't know yet whether he will need a supplementary appropriation from Parliament on top of his current $1,372,000,000 defence budget to cover the pay raise.

The minister said the smallest increase is $10 a month and that it applies to "very few" informants said 250 to 300—privates or their equivalents in the navy and air force.

The biggest annual increase in dollars—$3,000—over two years goes to lieutenant-generals, air marshals and vice-admirals. Their maximum pay will be $26,004 at Oct. 1, 1967.

The biggest percentage increase, however, goes to army captains, naval lieutenants and air force flight lieutenants. Their increase is about 25 1/2 per cent, raising their maximum pay to $10,524 Oct. 1 next year from $8,376 now.

There are 33,000 privates, seamen and airmen in the armed forces. Their maximum pay increase is to $5,220 a year from $4,896 or 6.6 per cent.

However, some 14,000 men will be promoted to corporal or equivalent and the pay increase in that rank will be to $6,223 from $5,148 or about 20 per cent.

It is chiefly privates who live in barracks and who, for the first time, will have to pay for room and board at the rate of $65 a month.

The 30,000 members of the reserve forces are not included in the pay increase. Mr. Hellyer said reserve pay arrangements are being reviewed separately.

Mr. Hellyer said marriage and subsistence allowances are being eliminated and incorporated into basic pay.
